FRENCH SEIZE U. S. SHIP

ISSUE OVER SHIPPING REACHES CRISIS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—The State Department was notified today that the French government has confiscated the American steamer Housatonic, owned by the American Trans-Atlantic Steamship Company, owners of the Hocking, which was seized by the British recently and taken to Halifax.

The Housatonic, which formerly was the Solveig and under Norwegian registry, was seized by the French a few weeks ago. The owners did not appear in prize court, the State Department was advised today, and so the vessel was confiscated.

The State Department plans an immediate protest. It will base the protest on the fact that the seizure of the Housatonic was being taken up diplomatically by the United States when the prize court action was taken and for that reason the owners did not have to appear.

Officials here expressed the opinion this afternoon that this action of the French government would serve to increase greatly the bitterness in this country against the methods practiced by the allies against neutral commerce.

The Housatonic, like the Hocking and the other vessels recently incorporated under the American registry by the American Trans-Atlantic Steamship Company, was formerly under a neutral flag and could in no way be classed as belonging to an enemy of the allies.

ROCHAMBEAU ON WAY AGAIN; FIRE ON STEAMER OUT

Mary Elizabeth Coughlin, at left, and Florina Goulet, Massachusetts nurses on the Rochambeau while fire raged on liner.

S. S. ROCHAMBEAU, AT SEA, via Cape Race, N. F., Nov. 8.—Fire completely extinguished. We continue toward Bordeaux in good order.
JUHAM.

(The foregoing radiogram was received from Captain Juham of the French liner Rochambeau by the International News Service at 10:14 a. m. today.)

By International News Service.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—The fire on board the French line steamship Rochambeau has been extinguished, according to a wireless message received here from the captain today.

The ship is now headed for Bordeaux and will not put in at Halifax.

Among the passengers on the Rochambeau are Miss Florina Goulet of Webster and Miss Mary Elizabeth Coughlin of Acton Centre, nurses, who were on their way to Pau, France, where they were to work in one of the army hospitals. Both are graduates of the Waltham Nurses' Training School, Miss Goulet graduating in 1912 and Miss Coughlin in 1914.

The following wireless message was received from Captain Juham of the Rochambeau from Cape Race today:

"Have succeeded in extinguishing fire and on my way to Bordeaux. All aboard is all right."

Previous to the message from Captain Juham, the last heard from the Rochambeau, which was carrying a heavy cargo of war materials to Europe for the allies, the ship was racing toward Halifax with fire raging in No. 5 reserve coal bunker.

News that the fire had been put out set at rest fears which had been increasing over night.

Report Kitchener Goes to India

McCall Spent Just $2,607.06 in His Campaign

Samuel W. McCall's personal expenses in his successful campaign for Governor amounted to $2,607.06, according to a statement filed today with the Secretary of State by Stanley R. Miller, treasurer of the McCall campaign committee.

Mr. McCall contributed $500 to the Republican State Committee, and paid $15 in carfares. He says he understands his "personal agent" paid $232.50 for postage, $234.17 for telephone expenses, about $590 for auto hire, $500 for clerical hire, $176.27 for printing, $44.65 for traveling expenses, besides other minor expenditures.

Five Convicted of Selling Morphine

Five persons charged with selling morphine were found guilty by Judge Parmenter in the second session of the Municipal Court today.

Daniel Foy was sentenced to six months in the House of Correction. He appealed. James Milot was sentenced to four months, while James Robertson received a four months' sentence. The latter appealed. Paul Grant and Jerry McCarthy were also found guilty. Their cases were continued until Friday.

Protests Profanity In Play at Medford

Mayor Haines of Medford today notified Manager George J. Hackett of the Medford Theatre that a play called "the Family Cupboard," produced there this week, was objectionable because of profane words used by the actors.

Two More Seek Council.

Two additional candidates took out nomination papers in the City Council fight today, John W. Kelley of Ward 9 and Philip McMahon of Ward 21, making nineteen now out for the four places to be filled.

Plan Model Homes in Suburbs for $20

Four-family houses that will rent at $30 a month to each family, in the suburbs amid healthful surroundings, are provided for in tentative plans shown today by the Boston Planning Board preparatory to exhibiting them at the State House. It is part of a plan of development of the Metropolitan district.

Man's Rib Broken in Crash With Auto

John Ryan, 44, of East Third street, South Boston, was thrown from a wagon and received a broken rib in a collision with an automobile on Church street today. The automobile was owned by Jerome McDonald of No. 1 Boylston street and was being operated by Frank L. Penney of Columbus avenue.

Parker's Lead Less in Senate Recount

A block of forty-seven votes for Senator which were tabulated for Lewis Sullivan, Democrat, in Precinct 3 of Ward 20, was credited to W. Prentiss Parker, Republican, by the clerk in charge, it developed at the recount held by the election commissioners today. The recount cut Parker's lead to 112.

FIRE PERIL IN BOSTON SCHOOLS

Dangerous fire conditions which menace the public schools of Boston are revealed by a joint investigation by Fire Prevention Commissioner John A. O'Keefe and the Boston Schoolhouse Commission.

Wooden fire escapes, wooden stairways, unprotected basements and a deplorable lack of automatic fire sprinklers are the outstanding conditions of danger found in the Greater Boston schools.

A crusade to eliminate the fire hazards is underway.

The investigation revealed these facts:

That there are wooden fire escapes in 22 school buildings in Greater Boston.

That 130 school buildings have no fire escapes at all.

That 173 school buildings have wooden stairways.

That but six of the 261 school buildings have automatic fire sprinklers in the basements.

The facts revealed were existing in June, when the investigation was begun. While some dangers have been remedied, Commissioner O'Keefe said today that the great work of

Two Men Hurt in Staging Collapse

William J. Wood of No. 36 Linden avenue, Somerville, and Thomas O. F. Major of No. 34 Moore street, Somerville, were badly injured today when the staging on which they were at work collapsed, dropping them twenty-five feet to the ground which was covered with building material. Wood received a fractured right elbow, was badly bruised and probably sustained internal injuries. Major's right ankle and two ribs were broken.

No-License Club Formed as Protest

Joseph Ferreira, who ran for the Democratic nomination for the House in Ward 9 and received 400 votes, has organized a no-license club in that section as a protest "against the pernicious activity of South End liquor dealers assisting in the defeat of Governor Walsh in the State election."

130 Out of 160 Club Members for No-License

An informal poll of 160 members of the Dorchester Democratic Club showed that 130 members will vote no-license against thirty for license at the city election.

This poll evidences the keen feeling of resentment against the liquor interests, which are blamed for the defeat of Governor Walsh.

The vote was taken unofficially during a meeting of the club. Younger members desired to place the club on record against the liquor interests, but the older members prevailed with the argument that the Democratic party was not identified with the liquor interests during the campaign, and that as an organization it should not take cognisance of the liquor people.

A poll taken among twenty-nine persons in a restaurant on Northampton street showed that twenty-seven will vote against license at the city election.

Reports from Charlestown and Roxbury show also that a great wave of anger against the liquor people has spread throughout the metropolitan area. Politicians said today that the formation of the Young Men's No-License Club and similar organizations will attract the greatest crowd of members in the history of Boston political doings.

Women Are Fined in Gambling Case

Twelve colored men and women, for being present at a house on Lenox street where gambling implements were found, were fined $10 each today in the Roxbury District Court. Their names are: Harry L. Anderson, Charles R. Trusty, Herbert Pinnick, Price Dike, Sam Syms, George May, James Brock, John Aucorn, William White, Lena Williams, Blanche Lewis and Mary Strophers.

Sheriff John Quinn Is Still Improving

Sheriff John Quinn was reported as showing continued improvement today at the Massachusetts General Hospital, where he was operated on for appendicitis yesterday. Doctors said the sheriff rested comfortably during the night, and that, barring complications, his recovery should be speedy.

Captain Cook Quits Life Guard Service

PROVINCETOWN, Nov. 9.—Captain W. W. Cook, for 33 years a life saver on Cape Cod, and for nearly a quarter of a century chief of the Peaked Hill Bars station, near here, has resigned from the coast guard service.

MUTINY IN THE EAST FEARED

By International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—Earl Kitchener, Secretary of War in the British Cabinet, is now on his way to India, where British rule is threatened with a critical state of unrest, according to confidential information received here today.

The state of affairs in India is more serious, it was stated, than is known outside the British War Office. Earl Kitchener is now on a mission for the British War Office, the details of which have been shrouded in mystery.

According to information that is said to have escaped the strict censorship in India and Egypt, Prince Nawaba, the Nizam Hyderabad, has been deposed by his people. He was one of the most influential of the native princes and he was a staunch supporter of Great Britain.

Many mutinies and other forms of unrest have been admitted by the British government, and it is said the troubles in India constitute the chief cause of Kitchener's leaving the War Office at this time.

U. S. Court Rules Upon Extradition

An important ruling of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals in Boston, made known today, forbids, under certain conditions, extradition to another State of a man indicted there. Hereafter a man indicted in another State can have his case tried in this State if he lives here. The case in point was that of Walter O. Hastings, secretary-treasurer of the firm of Marden, Orth & Hastings, Boston oil merchants. Hastings was indicted by the state of New Jersey. United States Commissioner Hayes today discharged him from custody.

Sentenced After Dressing as Woman

For being dressed up in a new fashioned short skirt and top boots Lewis Simmons, thirty-three, of Newcomb street, Roxbury, was in court today before Judge Absarn, charged with wearing female apparel on the public streets and posing as a young woman. He was given six months in the House of Correction.

Two Stabbed in Somerville; One May Not Live

Two men were stabbed, one probably fatally, in a fight with a third man today at the plant of the New England Dressed Meat and Wool Company in Somerville, near the Cambridge line.

Steve Katoski, twenty-four, of Hunting street, Cambridge, is in a critical condition at the Cambridge Relief Hospital with a knife wound in the abdomen. Martin Bickler, twenty-seven, of the same address, is in the Somerville police station with a slash across the chest.

Henry Pappas, whose last known address was Main street, Cambridge, is being hunted by the police of Somerville and Cambridge, charged with being the assailant.

Dresser, Head of Coleman Bank, Left $1,400,000

Edwin Dresser of Cambridge, who died October 20, left an estate valued at $1,400,000. This became known today, when his son, Sumner Dresser of Brookline, was appointed administrator of the estate. The testator was president of the defunct National City Bank of Cambridge, which was wrecked by George Coleman and "Big Bill" Killiher.

The son was appointed administrator by Judge McIntire in the East Cambridge Probate Court and gave a bond of $300,000. The estate consists of realty worth $100,000 and personal property worth $1,300,000.

LONDON, Nov. 9.—John Redmond says that as soon as arrangements can be made he intends to visit the troops at the front.

MAY DANCE NOW, SAYS GOW

Chairman Charles R. Gow of the Boston Licensing Board today declared "hotels have a right to conduct dances!"

He made this statement following a meeting of the board, at which the question of allowing hotels to hold dances was taken up.

This ruling of Chairman Gow, concurred in by the other members of the board, Robert A. Woods and Josiah P. Dean, will settle a question which has long bothered hotel proprietors who did not have dances in their hotels for fear of losing their liquor licenses.

The Copley-Plaza and American House had already asked the Boston Licensing Board for permission to hold dances. It was said that in New York hotels there was dancing day and evening. Why not in Boston? It is now believed the dancing vogue will make its belated appearance in Boston hotels.

"Police captains will be the censors of the dances held in their districts," said Chairman Gow. "In the absence of specific complaint from a police captain or a citizen we shall not take any action. A hotel does not require a permit to conduct such a dance. Hotels have as much right to hold a dance as they would to conduct a whist party. The board, however, will investigate each case where a hotel wishes to conduct a dance. It will take the matter up with the police captain of a division where the hotel which wishes to hold the dance is situated.

"If it is not advisable for a hotel to have a dance we will make such recommendation. But we are not in any position to forbid them conducting such a dance. We can, however, refuse to grant a hotel a license next May if it is conducted in any improper manner.

"If a hotel wishes to serve liquor in the same room where a dance is being held we shall not object if this is conducted properly. Of course if a hotel desires to charge admission to its dances I believe it will be necessary for them to secure a license from the city of Boston.

"There are certain hotels where it would not be advisable to have dances and we will strongly recommend them not to do so.

"Each case will be thoroughly investigated by the Licensing Board and by the police, but until something objectionable arises we shall not interfere.

"Hotel managers will have the right to make any rules which they wish in regard to the proper conduct of such affairs at their places. It would not be right for the board to forbid anything which was proper and which would tend to increase the business of hotels.

FIRE MENACE IN BOSTON SCHOOLS

fire prevention still remains to be done.

GREATEST DANGER.

Admitting the danger of the conditions, Commissioner O'Keefe said that failure to isolate school basements constitutes the greatest danger.

"It is imperative," said Commissioner O'Keefe, "that the basement in every school building in Boston should be isolated from the rooms occupied by the children. Metallic lath and thoroughly fireproof construction of the basements, in which fire usually start, would afford ample protection for the children and would obviate the expense of tearing out the wooden stairways and removing the other existing sources of danger.

"The Schoolhouse Commission of Boston has this condition in mind and is doing a splendid work, and it seems reasonable to suppose that the Commission will remove the wooden stairways where they isolate the basements, which are now the source of greatest danger."

Commissioner O'Keefe's investigation shows the further significant fact that the 128 school buildings which have no fire escapes of any description are buildings of the second and third classes of construction. They are brick building with plain interior finishings, as also all wooden buildings.

The buildings which have automatic sprinklers are of the first class of construction. They are less dangerous than the other classes of buildings. Commissioner O'Keefe said that it is therefore more serious that sprinklers are omitted from the buildings which have the greatest need for them.

WOODEN ESCAPES A MENACE.

The wooden fire escapes are found to be safe in remote instances, but it was said by Commissioner O'Keefe that on the whole they are dangerous. Many of the 129 schools which are without fire escapes are of one or two-story construction, but a regrettably large number of three-story buildings, which Mr. O'Keefe said should have fire escapes, was found included in this group.

"Wooden stairways are not the protection they should be," said Commissioner O'Keefe. "But in the older buildings that have wooden stairways the danger will be practically eliminated if the basements are isolated.

"Wooden fire escapes sound bad on paper, but they are not so bad as they sound. Fire experts realize that a fire which would threaten a wooden fire escape would be equally dangerous to an iron escape. Wooden escapes are better than nothing, but as a matter of fact metallic escapes are far better on the whole and they should be installed.

"Since we began our investigation the Schoolhouse Commission has installed a great many more sprinklers than existed, but the work is by no means done.

"The AMERICAN would be doing a great work if it would enlist itself in this crusade against dangerous school basements. The Peabody fire horror has ripened the time for the agitation. Boston should increase its schoolhouse appropriation and every cent available should be utilized to guard the lives of the school children."

FIRE DEPARTMENT BUSY.

Lacking in authority to alleviate the dangerous condition he has found, Commissioner O'Keefe has adopted the best means at his disposal. He has notified the Boston Fire Department of the conditions and the department, said to be acting under instructions from Mayor Curley, is investigating the same conditions.

Commissioner O'Keefe outlined a plan of campaign at a meeting in Faneuil Hall this afternoon of the Mayors of various cities of the State, of school, college and church authorities and of representatives of various fire departments.

He advised the conference to join with him and the Boston Schoolhouse Commission in a joint appeal to the Legislature for the passage of an act to enable the proper authorities to issue orders for the immediate removal of all fire hazards in the school buildings throughout the State.

FIRE EXPERTS IN SESSION DISCUSS SAFETY AT SCHOOL

Many fire experts gave their opinions about the safety of public and private schools at the fire preventive conference held today in Faneuil Hall.

Business, financial and professional interests were represented.

Fire Prevention Commissioner John A. O'Keefe, in the absence of Governor Walsh, who could not be present, presided. He hoped the conference would appoint a committee which would instruct a "sub-committee to devise better legislation for fire prevention in the Commonwealth.

"This exhibit has the purpose in view," said the commissioner, "of teaching the average person more and more about fire prevention. The fire prevention exhibit at the State House should be visited by young and old. It is open from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m."

Dr. David Snedden, commissioner of education, discussed safety from fire in schools.

Frank Irving Cooper, who has been engaged in research work for the Russell Sage Foundation, gave some practical points about fire prevention.

Professor C. H. Breed of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology showed the difference between old and new types of schoolhouses.

Gorham Dana, Manager of the Underwriters' Bureau, explained automatic sprinklers and what they do to prevent fires.

Dr. Thomas N. Harrington defined the nature of the fire drill in the public and private schools and what improvements had been made in this direction.

R. Clipton Sturgis, former chairman of the Boston School Committee, emphasized the need of good janitorship in public buildings.

Lynn Worth of the Boston Chamber of Commerce presented the legal side.

Franklin H. Wentworth, secretary of the National Fire Prevention Association, made a short address.

INSPECTOR FINDS DANGER TO PUPILS IN LYNN SCHOOLS

State Police Inspector Angus McDonald, after inspecting Lynn's public schools today, declared that a number of the school buildings were not properly equipped with fire escapes and that in case of fire the lives of the pupils "would be placed in grave danger."

Inspector McDonald said he would give the Lynn authorities thirty days in which to comply with the law.

"If they do," he declared, "I shall prosecute."

Accompanying the inspector on today's visit was Lynn School Committeeman Walter McDonough.

"I found a number of Lynn schools were not properly equipped with fire escapes," said McDonald. "In case of fire the lives of the children would be placed in grave danger.

"For instance, the Ingalls school is a wooden building without escapes, and with only one exit. The Whiting school has a coal bin under the cellar stairway, and in case of fire, this would shut off the main exit to the street. But few of the Lynn schools are properly equipped. Some time ago I issued orders to have all Lynn schools properly equipped, and if these orders are not obeyed within thirty days I shall prosecute."

Boston Fire 43 Years Ago Today

Today was the forty-third anniversary of the big Boston fire which all but wiped out the business district in 1872.

The day was celebrated as "Fire Prevention Day," by direction of Governor Walsh. In Faneuil Hall this afternoon experts, engineers and officials met and discussed fire prevention. The conference was called by Fire Prevention Commissioner O'Keefe.

TOWNS SCORE AGAINST THE BAY STATE

The conflict before the Public Service Commission as to how documentary evidence presented by the Bay State Railway Company in support of its petition for an "extra cent" should be handled ended today in a victory for the eighty attorneys who represent cities and towns on the system over the counsel for the road.

The attorneys for the road had desired to file one copy of each book, record or map offered in evidence for the towns and cities, and they argued that one copy for each of them should be filed; and the road, after a disagreement late that hour, since yesterday afternoon, at length agreed to this plan.

NO SETTLEMENT.

The hearing adjourned early last night to let the eighty odd attorneys come to some agreement, but each attorney had a different idea, and that no settlement had been reached was clear when the hearings opened this morning.

Ralph S. Bauer of Lynn arose and said:

"With the Bay State asking a million and six hundred thousand dollars in additional revenue, it means that the small towns on the system will be wiped off the map.

"Under the circumstances the road should give to the attorneys representing those towns every facility to defend themselves.

"They should file a printed brief in this case."

James F. Jackson, counsel for the road, sprang to his feet.

"It is perfectly impossible to print this brief," he cried hotly.

Arthur B. Wadleigh, Lynn city solicitor, rebuked:

"The burden of proof is on the road. The road should place the evidence in an enduring form, so that everyone could see it, and all documentary evidence should be committed to printing. They are playing for a heavy stake, and if they lose, our clients will have to pay. Why should they stall over a few dollars?"

E. Berry Brown, who says he represents the amalgamated labor unions in and around Brockton, gave answer:

"It isn't the figures they put in that count," he said. "It's the figures they don't put in that matter.

"As for these documentary reports—the counsel should go and study these reports where they are on file.

"Long before this, these attorneys should have consulted the reports and prepared themselves.

"If they keep on as they have begun, they will make but a sorry showing for the people."

Others spoke, favoring the printing of the reports in one form or another. Finally Chairman Bancroft said:

"The board regrets that no agreement has been reached.

"The board will rule that till there is an agreement, all exhibits must be read into the records.

"This will force a solution of the problem, for it is a method calculated to waste an unlimited and indefinite amount of time."

And thereupon, Charles R. Rockwell, vice-president and treasurer of the Bay State, resumed the stand. He was handed a typewritten report on some phase of the Bay State's activities, and proceeded to read it.

AUDIENCE RESTLESS.

The audience began to get restless as he took up an enormous blue print. It was close to a yard square and upon it was set forth the "family tree" of the Bay State in the shape of column after column of names, figures and dates. He read the title at the top, then painstakingly plodded through the columns of figures and the like. The reading took up several minutes and was not completed when Attorney Jackson, representing the road, arose in despair.

"I guess," said Mr. Jackson, "that if the counsel can have another conference, they may reach some agreement as to how this evidence is to be handled."

Chairman Macleod smiled, and ordered a half-hour adjournment to allow the eighty odd counsel to get together.

After a conference the hearing was resumed and Attorney Jackson said:

"The company will provide copies of exhibits in sufficient number to meet needs of all parties. It will also furnish printed statements of pages referred to in reports, documents, etc.

As to supplying copies of other documents, the matter will stand suspended until we see how this plan works out."

City Solicitor Arthur S. Wadleigh of Lynn then said:

"This is a radical departure from the stand heretofore taken by the company and is a big victory for the people so far. Why the company did not print a sufficient number of copies of exhibits to go around I don't know."

We have no hesitation in declaring the absolute hygienic superiority of modern gas lighting. The light itself is natural in color (being slightly more amber than the ordinary light of day), and soft and well diffused, providing restful conditions for the eye.

The air currents induced by the heat of the mantle draw in fresh air from the outside and actually force the impure and warmed air out through crevices in windows and doors and through the upper wall and ceiling. The air, instead of becoming stagnant, is kept fresh and clear.

Disease-producing organisms in the air are either drawn through the flame itself or are carried by the ascending air currents to the ceiling, where the products of combustion exert a mild but effective sterilizing action.

These facts have been amply and repeatedly proved by famous scientists, as described in a booklet by a well-known illuminating Engineer which we shall be very glad to send upon request.

PROMINENT NEW ENGLAND WOMAN WINS HEALTH BY NEW TREATMENT

Claims Var-ne-sis Gave Her New Lease of Health and Banished Pangs of Rheumatism

The story of another remarkable recovery from rheumatism was related by Mrs. Frederick Hurst, who lives at 1310 Cranston street, Providence, R. I. She gives credit to Var-ne-sis, the medicine that has produced such remarkable results in Boston and vicinity recently. When asked for a statement, she said:

"I suffered from rheumatism almost continuously since childhood; most of my trouble was in the knees —they have been growing worse, and for eight months before I commenced on Var-ne-sis I was almost helpless. My knees were very stiff and would pain me greatly to go up or down stairs, and I wanted to sit down most of the time. My appetite was irregular, and I was nervous and sleepless.

"After taking this medicine a short time the pain and stiffness disappeared, could sleep better, eat anything I cared to, and had no trouble whatever. Var-ne-sis has given me such buoyancy that I feel that I have a new lease of life."

The success of Var-ne-sis is rapidly spreading to every town and city, and almost every day letters come from different sections telling of some remarkable recovery after the ordinary remedies had failed. Var-ne-sis is different—does not contain salicylate of soda, potash, iodide or any metallic substance. It is purely vegetable—made of roots, herbs and barks, and particularly adapted to those cases where the stomach is weak, with more or less indigestion.

The new Journal devoted to rheumatics will be mailed free to all who address W. A. Varney, Lynn, Mass. Physicians who have chronic cases of rheumatic arthritis under treatment and not securing satisfactory results are invited to investigate and consult with the Var-ne-sis physician. The collection of wheel chairs, crutches, canes and photographs may be seen at 140 Boylston St., where a registered physician is in attendance. Consultation and advice is free of charge.

ARNOLD LAWSON TELLS ABOUT GEM THEFT

Arnold Lawson, son of Thomas W. Lawson, told today what he knows of the robbery of Dreamwold Hall, the Lawson estate on the South Shore.

"My father was very much worked up," he said. "I got home from New York at 11 o'clock last night, and I got a telephone call from him.

"He said some one had taken a lot of valuable books and horse show trophies and jewelry, worth from five to seven thousand dollars, from Dreamwold Hall.

"He was excited. The trophies he was particularly sorry to lose. The jewelry probably belonged to my sister, Bunny.

"The house has been open all Summer, though we were not here often. The servants have been with us fifteen or sixteen years. They lived in the far end of the house, and with only one watchman around it would have been easy for someone to get in and take the things.

"We are waiting now till an inventory can be taken. We have notified the police. Father believes Dreamwold has been robbed, and I am sure he has no clew."

LABOR'S PLEA TO PRESIDENT FOR DYNAMITERS

By International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—An appeal for executive clemency in behalf of the "Indianapolis dynamiters," now serving sentences in various Federal penitentiaries, was made today to President Wilson by a committee of union labor leaders. Recommendations against pardons for most of the men were made by the Department of Justice some months ago but the way was left open for another appeal.

All of the men for whom the pleas were made today were sentenced in connection with the famous trial in Indianapolis, growing out of the plot of the Bridge and Structural Iron Workers to blow up non-union work throughout the country. They are:

Frank M. Ryan, Eugene Clarke, John T. Butler, F. O. Webb, Michael J. Young, Philip E. Cooley, J. O. Mosley, J. W. Brown, P. J. Smith, Charles M. Beum, W. F. Redding, Edward Smythe, George Anderson, Ernest W. Basey.

The committee which saw the President was made up of George Bergerald of Chicago, representing the Iron Workers; Arthur Holder of this city, from the American Federation of Labor, and N. P. Alifas of Washington, representing the Machinists' Union.

Why name a pretty girl after an insect?

There's a little black beetle in France whose official name is Bolboceras Gallicus Muls. It's a peculiar little bug with very strange habits, one of which is a passion for truffles, which it spends all its time hunting.

Now, why on earth should a famous author name the most attractive heroine he ever created after such an insect? Especially as truffles had nothing to do with it?

Yet, that is just what Samuel Merwin has done in his latest story, which begins in the December Cosmopolitan. He has named a fascinating, bewitching girl after a little black beetle, because they have characteristics in common. And the name "truffler" fits her like a glove.

Most extraordinary? It certainly is, but so is the girl. In fact, she is going to be the most talked about girl in the country this winter.

You must not fail to read "The Truffers". You know that any story written by the author of "The Honey Bee" and "Anthony the Absolute" is bound to be delightful reading.

Mr. Merwin is now writing exclusively for

FIRST STORY OF BIG BATTLE AT STRUMITZA

By International News Service.

The following is the first detailed story of the great battle south of Strumitza which has reached the outside world. It was this fight which opened up the way for a French invasion of Bulgaria. African troops sent to aid the Anglo-French army of the Balkans took part.

MILAN, Nov. 8.—The war correspondent of the Stampa in the Near East sends the following account of the battle between Strumitza and Valandovo:

"On October 24, at noon, the Bulgarians appeared on the hills overlooking the Strumitza station. General Bailloud occupied the heights on the eastern side of the station. The main line was held by French infantry and Zouaves, with Chasseurs and African troops as reserves.

"Strumitza station lies on the Salonica-Nish railway line, about eight miles west of the Bulgarian city of Strumitza. It has frequently been confused with the Bulgarian city of the same name in recent reports of fighting. Strumitza station is on Serbian soil.)

CAUTION ORDERED.

"The order of the day was: 'Keep to cover and take great care of your lives. Don't get yourself shot unnecessarily, which means that you shall preserve the strength of France and utilize to good effect the moment it is necessary that you should all be killed, be assured I will let you know.'

"At 3 o'cock the first Bulgarian shrapnel burst over the station. The ground between Valandovo and Strumitza is stony and had been made soggy by rain. Four regiments of Bulgarian troops advanced across this space in close formation, after the German fashion. They were led by bomb throwers and Macedonian comadttali or irregulars. Many of the officers in the first line were Germans.

"When a few hundred yards away from the one and of the French line there burst forth suddenly a hurricane of bullets. The Bulgarians were mowed down in masses. The advancing line was bent, checked and twisted.

"Then the French seventy-fives were turned loose and sent a storm of shells into the Bulgarian ranks, with uninterrupted fury, until machine guns crackled in horrible consert.

ADVANCE CHECKED.

"The Bulgarian advance was immediately arrested. Not one out of the 400 or 500 Bulgars who reached the first French line escaped.

"Of one entire battalion only thirty wounded men survived. They were made prisoners. In the meanwhile the machine guns and rifles continued pounding the enemy's positions until it was seen that the impetus of the attack was completely broken. The enemy's indecision was the prelude to shooting before. The French passed immediately from the defensive to the offensive.

"A French legion composed of two battalions of Zouaves jumped out of their trenches and rushed at the enemy with the bayonet. The Chasseurs and African troops followed and all fell upon the Bulgarians with the utmost fury.

"The Bulgarians were chased out of their treaches and pursued toward the crest of the Pleus-Plan Mountains. They were unable to make a stand ead and wounded and they also left a great number of rifles, two big guns and much ammunition in the hands of the French.

NURSE KILLS GIRL WARD IN GRIEF OVER MOTHER'S CLAIM

WESTFIELD, Nov. 9.—Miss Elizabeth Cannon, held charged with killing her five-year-old ward, Lucile Thomas, was arraigned here today on a charge of murder, pleaded not guilty, and was held for a hearing November 18.

Harry B. Putnam is her attorney. Miss Cannon was calm in court, and made her plea in a low, but distinct tone.

The definite charge is that she murdered Lucile Thomas by administering hyoscin in the child's leg with a hypodermic. The police say she confessed she killed the child because she could not bear to restore it to its mother, and that though she is well spoken of in her home community at Russell, the death of her father some months ago had preyed upon her mind.

They say Mrs. Elizabeth Thomas of Bridgeport, Ct., is the mother of the dead child.

The woman arrested, a "practical nurse," 38 years old, told her own story of the tragedy to State Detective Thomas E. Bligh and Medical Examiner Edward S. Smith. Her story, they said, was as truly an epic of "mother love" as though the child had been her own. They quote her as saying:

"I adopted the little girl when she was just two weeks old.

"I never knew who her father was. I did not know her mother until recently.

"The baby was born in Holyoke, and it was there I adopted it. As the weeks and months and years passed I became attached to it. I loved it as much or more than if it had been my own.

"I came to regard the baby as my own. We were together always. My neighbors in Russell will tell you that we were as attached as two devoted sisters, for there was between us something more comradely than even the love of mother and daughter.

"I never dreamed that the girl's mother would return. I thought she was mine forever, that I would always have her for myself.

"And then, not very long ago, the baby's mother appeared. There is no doubt the woman is my baby's mother. She proved it to me, and she said that she was soon going to marry again, and that then she would want to take her baby back.

"I could not refuse her, for I knew too well how lovable the baby was to dare refuse to give it up to its own mother.

"But after she had gone, I fell a-brooding. I got to thinking of how things would be, how empty my life would be, when the baby was gone.

"I kept thinking it over and over. And the more I thought about giving up the baby the more frantic I became.

"Finally I decided to kill the baby and myself, so that we might never be separated after all. I planned that we should die together, and that our bodies should be burned to ashes side by side.

"Yesterday morning I decided the time had come.

"I locked the doors, and I plugged up the windows, and then I arranged pillows on the kitchen floor so that I could set them afire easily and burn the house.

"Then I gave the baby an injection of a powerful drug, and she became unconscious and died very quickly.

"Before she was dead I had set fire to the pillows. Then I went to the baby and gave myself a dose of the drug and lay down beside her.

"The smoke poured in the room, but the drug soon made me unconscious, and I knew no more till I was revived by those who broke into the house.

"I wanted to die."

REPORT GIRL WILL SETTLE LOVE CASE AGAINST SHOE MAN

Miss Mary Mooney, eighteen, of Newburyport, who, it is reported, is to settle her $30,000 attachment against Alfred A. Ordway, a Haverhill shoe manufacturer.

HAVERHILL, Nov. 9.—Just what was the nature of the $30,000 attachment brought by Miss Mary Mooney, a pretty girl of eighteen, against Alfred A. Ordway, wealthy Haverhill shoe manufacturer and a man close to sixty years old?

That is the question friends of Miss Mooney are asking today. An attachment for $10,000 was filed; but almost immediately afterward came pretty definite rumors that the case would never come to trial, that it would be settled out of court.

Not even the nature of the charges on which the girl based her suit has yet been learned. The "declaration," the legal statement of her charges, was to have been filed in December, but it is claimed now that even the declaration will never be filed.

Immediately after the attachment was filed, a screen of secrecy was drawn about the case. D. F. Page of Newburyport is Miss Mooney's attorney. But:

"I cannot discuss the case," he said. "I shall have nothing to say till the declaration is filed."

He was asked Miss Mooney's address.

"I have only her postoffice box number," he replied.

Burke & Crabshaw are attorneys for Mr. Ordway. They also refused to discuss the case.

HARVARD BALKS AT THE COST OF SHOW TICKETS

Harvard undergraduates are worried about the high cost of theatre tickets for "Harvard night" on the Yale game. The desire to attend this particular show which the football team is going to play—which this year is "Watch Your Step" or such that at this time it is almost impossible to get seats for that evening.

Theatres in and near Boston for that evening are charging $2 for tickets for that performance and as the scalpers know it might end up as an agency the purchaser must pay $2.50 per seat—an extortionate figure. Even at this price, however, there are many undergraduates who cannot procure seats.

From the point of view of the students this is an unfortunate state of affairs. If the theatres are able to demand and get $2.50 for their tickets for that performance, it is quite possible, however, in arranging matters that members of the university desiring tickets could obtain them.

The athletic association might buy out the house and put the tickets on sale to students—limiting the number for each man. If the association could get $2 for the seats it would be able to, or no commission, the same premium of 50 cents would be saved.

This would make an "undergrad night" at the theatre, putting the finishing touches to the city's festivities.

It would be an unquestioned advantage to the theatres. Such an advertising attached to the name of the students, and it is to be supposed that there was a good chance of a capacity house in Boston at the time it might be possible to procure seats at less than $5 apiece.

Decision Upholds the Maine Central

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—The Maine Central and other New England roads were upheld by the Interstate Commerce Commission today in charging extra demurrage rates on cars headed especially for the shipment of fruit and other perishable freight. The commission dismissed the complaint of the Providence (Rhode Island) Fruit and Produce Exchange, which alleged that the action of the roads in charging $1 a day on each car for the first two days and $2 a day for succeeding days in addition to the regular demurrage rate of $1 a day for each car was not justified.

The cigarette before breakfast.

You know this is the most severe test to which any tobacco can be subjected.

A great many men have said that the only smoke they enjoy at this time is Rameses, "The Aristocrat of Cigarettes." And the pleasure extends to the rest of the family as well.

Which is only another way of recognizing the distinction in flavor and absolute correctness of blend which marks this unusual cigarette.

Before breakfast, when the senses are sharpened by a night's rest—this is obviously a good time to find out why "Nobody ever changes from Rameses."

PERSONAL FROM
WILLIAM A. BRADY
(FAMOUS THEATRICAL MANAGER)

"I came to Boston yesterday. I visited the Boston Opera House, where 'Experience' is playing to such immense crowds. I was told this great play had to leave the Opera House because of the coming of grand opera, that it must leave Boston because there was no other theatre available. I watched the play and saw the wonderful hold it had on its audiences. I saw the crowds of people at the box office buying seats for the last performances. I said, 'This play must not leave Boston. To take it away from Boston before EVERY ONE has had a chance to see it would be a crime.' I went to A. L. Wilbur, who owns the Wilbur Theatre, where my own show, 'Sinners,' was booked. I said, 'Mr. Wilbur, we managers must stand together. If one of us gets a success, we must all help make that success greater. I am going to postpone my own show, 'Sinners,' for four weeks, and let you move 'EXPERIENCE' to THE WILBUR THEATRE. We must keep that play in Boston.'" Therefore, EXPERIENCE, the most wonderful play in America, moves next Monday night, Nov. 15, to Ye Wilbur Theatre for four weeks only. Same big show; same cast; same prices, 50c to $1.50; same bargain matinee Wednesday, 25c to $1.00. No telephone orders taken. Seats on sale at Wilbur Box Office, Thursday A. M., Nov. 11.

The new hats, daringly chic, show a great diversity of becoming styles. The close-fitting turbans and other brimless shapes following the Evelyne Varon inspiration are very smart, but so are the very high crowned narrow brims of the Suzanne Talbot type and the wide brimmed Georgette sailors, lovely as an old portrait.

The fact is, any that's becoming to you, Fair Lady, is good style. If it's fur trimmed so much the better—for fur, any kind of fur, is used lavishly.

CLASH 312 FEET IN AIR OVER TUFTS FLAG

That 312-foot wireless tower out at Tufts is making trouble again. Last night a freshman and a sophomore came near a fist fight at the top of it, but a look down the sheer fall cooled their anger, and they descended to the ground.

The tower, completed in September, and blown over in a high wind the next day, is almost finished for the second time.

Saturday night, William Moody of Jewett City, Ct., and Edward Wendell Brainerd of Dorchester, sophomores, climbed 200 feet up the tower and fastened to its framework a pillow slip bearing the painted numerals: "'12."

Sunday night an unidentified freshman climbed up, tore down the sophomore numerals, and set the freshman numerals in place on the top of the tower.

Arthur B. Cooke of Waltham, a sophomore, took a hand, climbed the tower, and turned the freshman numerals sideways.

Last night Hugh S. McKenna of Meriden, Ct., climbed up to set the freshman numerals right. Daniel E. C. Lalor of Watervliet, N. Y., a sophomore, pursued him to the foot of the tower, and when threats failed to bring the freshman down, climbed after him. They met in the top of the tower, and hostilities were imminant—till they looked at the 300-foot drop so handy beside them.

Then they split the numerals between them and came down.

Aren't those college men cutups, though!

Hunnenegilde Fell in Canal; He's Out Again

WILTON, N. H., Nov. 9.—A young man named Nadeau was learning to make his bicycle go; he pedalled like the Old Sal and rode into the canal, and nearly got drowned, you know. Seriously speaking, Nadeau was going along and pulled him out of the water. The bicycle was a total loss. Hunnenegilde is Nadeau's first name.

THE MARKETMAN HAD INDIGESTION

Walter Stewart of 170 Haywood St., Boston, Was Relieved by Plant Juice.

In this modern day man and woman is eternally asking for something new something that will create widespread interest and attention, irrespective to its applicability to what it's supposed to represent. That is why daily we see peculiar names flaring on billboards and electric signs. The idea is to cause inquiry, create interest, and in many cases to inspire curiosity, so to raise a false idea of the true worth of the object in question. This is true of various preparations, soaps, proprietary medicines, beverages and other articles sold by advertising.

Among the few popular articles now before the public that have any of effort to indicate the nature of the object named is Plant Juice, the new herbal remedy now on sale. The name "Plant Juice" instantly informs one of the true nature of the remedy. It is the juice of plants, the extracts from medicinal herbs, and this is one of the outstanding reasons why Plant Juice had risen such a hold on the American public.

Since its introduction here many testimonials are received daily from local people telling of the benefits they have received from the use of this great remedy. One of the latest is that of Mr. Walter Stewart, who resides at No. 170 Haywood Street and is employed by a large Boston market, who stated:

"For a year I have suffered with stomach trouble, which took the form of indigestion and dyspepsia. My food would ferment and cause gas and I had a hard lump in the pit of my stomach. I had headaches, dizzy spells, was nervous and restless and could not sleep at night and felt weak and miserable. My liver was torpid and my skin got very yellow. I had no appetite whatever. After using Plant Juice and began to take it and it relieved me at once, my skin is cleared up and I am feeling fine."

The Plant Juice Man is at the Liggett Drug Co.'s store, corner of Washington and Avon Streets, where he is daily meeting the local public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy.—Advertisement.

LIFE SAVED AFTER OPERATION FAILED

Mrs. Clare Shaw of Providence Uses Wonderful Remedy.

Mrs. Clare Shaw of 493 Dexter St., Providence, R. I., was a sufferer from stomach and liver troubles for many years. She was treated both in the United States and abroad. She underwent an operation. Still she suffered.

Then she took Mayr's Wonderful Remedy and found swift relief. In a letter telling of her case she said:

"I received your sample treatment the day before Christmas and it saved my life. I was almost gone. I had an inflammation that got right up in my throat and, seemed to choke me. My neighbors let it is a miracle, as they know how I suffered. I am better now than I have been for 20 years."

Mayr's Wonderful Remedy gives permanent results for stomach, liver and intestinal ailments. Eat as much and whatever you like. No more distress after eating, pressure of gas to the stomach and around the heart. Get one bottle of your druggist now and try it on an absolute guarantee—if not satisfactory money will be refunded. MILTON POLICE AND THIEF IN GUN BATTLE

There was the utmost excitement out in Milton today over the fact that the Milton police have so far failed to round up the burglar who robbed two houses and attempted to enter three others, escaping only after exchanging shots with Patrolman Henry Shields.

Chief of Police Morris Pierce did not want to discuss the situation; but everybody else in Milton was talking about it, and the residents of the second richest town in the State were concerned lest their valuables be the next object of the burglar's attempts.

The robber is described as a beetle-coted young man of twenty or so, who can outrun a bulldog, and isn't afraid to use the revolver he carries.

Here is the toll thus far exacted by the robber:

The home of G. Frank Kemp, town clerk, on Central avenue, was entered through a pantry window while the family was away.

A gold watch belonging to Mr. Kemp, $15 from Mrs. Kemp's handbag, and a gold watch belonging to Mr. William Hibbard. Mr. Kemp's father, were stolen. Mr. Hibbard's watch was priceless to him, for he had had it for many years.

The home of Stephen McDonald on Allerton road was entered. Ten or twelve dollars in pennies and a gold watch were stolen. Mrs. McDonald heard the thief at work, waked, screamed, and the robber fled and escaped.

By that time Kemp had returned home, discovered the theft, and he and McDonald telephoned the police at about the same time.

While the auto patrol was preparing to go out and hunt the burglar, C. G. Williams, a member of the fire department, telephoned from his home on Columbia road.

"A burglar was trying the windows of my house," he reported. "My bulldog saw him, nipped him twice, and chased him when the man fled, but the burglar got away."

The auto patrol raced to Columbia road. Patrolman Henry Shields caught sight of the burglar and summoned him to halt.

The man dodged into the woods. Patrolman Shields jumped to the ground and started after him. The patrolman fired three shots. From the shadow of the woods came a return fire, one, two three flashes of flame, and a bullet sped uncomfortably close to the patrolman.

He drew off and the burglar escaped.

The simplest of society weddings this season took place at noon today in the Church of the Good Shepherd in Cortes street, when Miss Margery Prescott was married to Richard Lawrence, Harvard, '09. The ceremony was performed by the bride's father, the Rev. George O. Prescott, pastor of the church. Mr. Lawrence is the younger son of James Lawrence of Groton and Nahant and is a member of the Somerset and Harvard clubs of Boston and the Harvard and Knickerbocker clubs of New York.

Budget Committee to Study Income

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—The House budget committee, composed of Democratic leaders appointed by caucus last Winter, met today in an effort to devise a more systematic manner for spending the national funds during the coming session. If the plan of the committee is realised, Congress will convene knowing exactly how much it can spend for each and every purpose. The committee proposes to investigate the possibility of federal income from every source.

Lodger Unconscious from Escaping Gas

Mrs. Eleanor Bickerton of Dorchester avenue smelled gas in her home today, followed it to the room of a lodger, James Tierney, forty, found his door locked and called the police. Patrolmen James A. Rogers and James Halligan broke down the door and found Tierney unconscious, gas escaping from an open cock. Tierney was taken to the City Hospital.

Clerk of Court at Gloucester Quits

Custom H. Larsson, clerk of the District Court at Gloucester, sent his resignation to Governor Walsh today. It was immediately accepted. Governor Walsh sent the name of Simon B. Hotchkiss of Gloucester to the Executive Council three months ago to succeed Parsons as clerk, but the Council has held up the appointment through the influence of Parsons's friend, Councilor Frothingham of Haverhill. A hearing on the confirmation of Mr. Hotchkiss was scheduled for November 17.

Confirm 3 Mayor Named Assessors

Confirmation of Mayor Curley's appointments of Charles E. Folsom, William A. Creesy and Frederick H. Temple as principal assessors was made in a decision handed down by the Civil Service Commission today. The board reserved its decision on the appointment of William H. Caddy of Ward 8, promoted by the Mayor from first assistant to principal assessor.

Bequest to Church by Quincy Woman

The First Congregational Society and the Pragment Society, both of Quincy, will receive $500 each under the will of Caroline S. B. Richardson of Quincy, filed today in the Norfolk Probate Court at Dedham. The rest of the estate was left to relatives.

HAPPENINGS IN SOCIETY

SOCIETY TO FETE MISS JOSEPHINE RANTOUL

MISS MARTHA RUETER WILL BE PRESENTED TO SOCIETY TODAY

Society learns that the engagement of Miss Josephine Rantoul, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Neal Rantoul of No. 30 Fairfield street, one of the most attractive and popular of the recent year debutantes, and Henry Alexander Murray, Jr., Harvard '15, will be a long one, since Mr. Murray this Fall became a student at the New York College of Physicians and Surgeons.

Meantime a host of friends of the handsome society girl-bride-to-be are helping to make life as enjoyable as it can be made for her. Miss Rantoul will be feted widely this Winter.

Her strikingly beautiful "sun-colored" hair and blue eyes have made her a desirable bridesmaid at numerous weddings. She acted in that capacity at the Margery Lee wedding of last year. Miss Rantoul came out two years ago.

She has taken a prominent part in the Vincent Club theatricals for two years and will probably shine again distinctively next Spring when the show is staged.

Miss Theodora Willard, daughter of Ashton Hollins Willard of No. 42 Commonwealth avenue, was presented at a tea at the Tuileries. The guests were received by Mr. Willard and his sister, Miss Willard, who has made her home with her brother since Mrs Willard's death five years ago.

The debutante has passed much of her girlhood with her parents in Europe, but during the past five years has been in Miss Winsor's School at Longwood, going abroad each Summer.

The pourers at the tea included a number of schoolmates and other intimate friends among the debutantes of this year.

Miss Willard is a tall, slender blonde and was extremely pretty in a white chiffon frock with soft touches of delicate blue ribbon as she stood among her multitude of floral gifts receiving her guests.

The tea tables were decorated in pale pink and crimson roses, which were tied with blue ribbon and were held in gold basket vases.

Each of the debutantes assisting was presented with a corsage bouquet of the same design.

At the reception Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Rueter are giving today at their home on Perkins street, Jamaica Plain, to present their daughter, Miss Martha Rueter, the debutantes who will assist are the Misses Anna Agassiz, Rosamond Batchelder, Catherine Anthony, Elizabeth Baker, Margaret Bliss, Dorothy Burrage, Christiana Councilman, Jessie Cordingly, Elsie Dow, Edith Fabyan, Hannah Fiske, Harriet Fessenden, Ruth Lyon, Agnes Means, Isabella Mumford, Constance Quimby, Ruth Shepburne, Margaret Slocum, Eunice Taylor, Ellen Tufts, Margaret Wellington, Mabel Wetzler, Elizabeth White, Mary Williams and Rosamond Williams.

After the tea Mr. and Mrs. Rueter will entertain the assisting party and a corresponding number of young men at the theatre, going back to the Jamaica Plain home after the performance for a dinner and dance.

Many affairs have been planned for Miss Rueter, the first of which is to be given by Mr. and Mrs. Albert Geiger, Jr., the latter an aunt of Miss Rueter's. His affair will be at the Country Club on December 1.

Miss Barbara Kendall Bolles, the younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs Richard F. Bolles of No. 305 Commonwealth avenue, was quietly married to Dr. George Osgood of Cohasset.

The wedding took place at the Summer place of the bride's parents. The wedding was simple in all its plans and only close members of the two families were present. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Milo H. Gates of New York city. He was assisted by the Rev. Howard K. Bartow of Saint Stephen's Episcopal Church, Cohasset.

Mr. Bolles gave his daughter away and her only attendant was her older sister, Miss Dorothy F. Bolles.

The wedding gown was of white satin trimmed with rich lace and her veil of tulle was fastened in position with the convertional orange blossoms. She carried lilies of the valley.

Miss Dorothy Bolles wore a gown of blue chiffon and carried pink roses. Mrs. Bolles, the bride's mother, was in a gown of pale gray.

J. A. Sheldon of New York was best man.

Miss Frances Benedict, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Wheeler Benedict of Sparks street, Cambridge, will make her bow to society tomorrow evening at the Hotel Somerset. The presentation will be made at a dance which will be in the small ballroom.

Friends say her engagement, recently announced to Henry Alexander Murray, Jr., will be a long one as he is a student in New York. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Neal Rantoul of No. 30 Fairfield street.

MUNITIONS ARE 'LOST' ON TRIP TO LYNN

Anybody here seen three box cars loaded with munitions?

A month ago the cars, loaded with steel shell castings for the allies, were shipped from Erie, Penn., consigned to the General Electric Company at Lynn.

Last week three cars arrived at the Lynn plant, bearing the numbers of the cars dispatched from Erie—but not the shell forgings. A little closer inspection showed that the original numbers on the three cars which showed up at Lynn had been scratched out and the numbers of the Erie cars had been substituted.

This led the police to say that the Erie cars had been stolen and that perhaps the deed had been done by agents of a government hostile to the allies.

How the supposed theft was carried out is a thing that the police and railroad authorities are trying to find out.

The castings were to be turned in machines at the Lynn plant, and were estimated to have been worth from $10,000 to $50,000.

Jail Sentence on Liquor-Auto Charge

Charged with operating his automobile while under the influence of liquor in Cambridge, Peter E. Brazil of No. 726 Commonwealth avenue, Boston, was found guilty today by Judge Almy in the Cambridge District Court. Brazil was given two weeks in the House of Correction. He was also fined $5 for operating his car and not having his license with him. He appealed and was held in $200 for the Superior Court.

$6 Wages for 2,000 Girls at Lowell

LOWELL, Nov. 9.—At the hearing of the dispute between employes and employers at United States Cartridge Works before the State Board of Arbitration, today, Superintendent Canill of the company testified that out of 3,000 women and girls employed, 2,000 receive $6 a week, and the remainder up to $7.50 a week.

Man Is Crushed to Death Under Truck

Cornelius Murphy of No. 42 Columbia street, a man of fifty-five, was crushed to death under a motor truck in Lafayette square, Cambridge, early today. William Fraser of No. 19 Elston street, West Somerville, driver of the truck, picked up the body and carried it to the Cambridge Relief Hospital, but Murphy was dead when he arrived there. Fraser was released after Chief Inspector Patrick J. Hurley had investigated the tragedy.

Wedding in Chinatown Hit By 5-Day Law

Wong Yon Ark is going to wed Lee Shu, and all Boston's Chinatown is going to celebrate the ringing of the merry nuptial bells.

Wong is twenty-three, and is a cook, living at No. 24 Harrison avenue. Miss Leu is eighteen.

The couple had planned the wedding for next Saturday, and their friends had gone ahead with arrangements for a big reception, but when Wong applied for a license at City Hall, he was told about the five-day law, which would postpone the marriage until Sunday unless the approval of the court were secured to waive the law.

So Wong left for the Pemberton Square Court House, saying he would plead with one of the judges to grant the permit which would let him be married Saturday.

PARIS, Nov. 9.—A Salonica dispatch to the Petit Parisien says that a new Italian steamer has been sunk by a German submarine.

ALL RIGHT TO RUN FOR TWO OFFICES

Melancton W. Burlen, acting chairman of the Board of Election Commissioners, today ruled that a candidate for the City Council may file papers for both the one-year and three-year terms.

"My ruling is that a man who is a candidate for the City Council may file papers for both the one-year and three-year terms," said Burlen. "In the event of any man taking this action and being elected for the one-year and three-year terms the question of his holding both places will have to be determined by the Supreme Court.

"There is nothing in the city charter to prohibit a man from holding such offices. I regard such a thing as extremely unlikely, however, but in any event I favor a remedy of this defect in the charter by giving the three men receiving the highest votes the three-year terms and the one receiving the lowest vote the one-year term."

The case came up on the application of Timothy Connolly for both the one year and the three-year term. He was at first refused both acts of papers by the election commissioners, but Corporation Counsel John A. Sullivan said he should be given both acts.

This raised the question for the first time since the new city charter was adopted, and brings to light the unusual situation that under the new charter a man may run for two offices.

OLD FASHIONED FAMILY REMEDY FOR COLDS AND BODY BUILDING

Father John's Medicine Is Best for Colds and to Build Up the Body. Free From Alcohol or Dangerous Drugs.—A Doctor's Prescription, 50 Years in Use.

Father John's Medicine is a physician's prescription.

Prescribed for the late Rev. Father John O'Brien of Lowell, Mass., by his doctor in 1855.

Father John recommended this prescription to his parishioners and friends and in this way it became known as Father John's Medicine.

This story is true and we guarantee to give $25,000.00 to any charitable institution, if shown otherwise.

Father John's Medicine is recommended for coughs, colds and throat and lung troubles, to make flesh and strength. It is not a patent medicine, and does not contain alcohol or poisonous drugs.—Advertisement.

Chandler Sees No Need Now of Defence Plans

CONCORD, N. H., Nov. 8.—"The United States is not likely to ever become involved in war without having as an ally at least one of the great European powers," former Secretary of the Navy William E. Chandler said today, in declining to serve as an honorary vice-president of the New Hampshire League for National Defences.

"While I favor reasonable preparation for any emergency, I see no need of increasing our defences at this time. There is no danger of the United States becoming involved in war in the next five years."

"GIVE A BASKET" CAMPAIGN IN FULL SWING

The Campaign of Happiness is in full swing today. It's not a political campaign; and it's confined to no party, church, town or city. It's a campaign for everybody, a Campaign of Christmas Happiness; and its object is just to see to it that everybody is as happy as you are, on Christmas Day.

It's a long time till Christmas, sure enough. Let's see, it's one, two, four, six—why it's only about six weeks, after all. That's not long, when you consider the thousand things there are to be done.

For if the Campaign of Happiness is to be a success, five or six or eight, or maybe ten thousand baskets of Christmas Happiness in the form of chickens and cranberries and pumpkins must be safely distributed by Christmas Eve in homes where they will do the most good.

GIVES 2,000 BASKETS.

That is a big job; and it means a lot of work. The AMERICAN, with the help of all of you, is going to do the work. First, there are the thousand details of preparing and filling those Christmas baskets, then the joyful climax of delivering them, and observing the joy their coming brings to a home.

Last year, as a result of the AMERICAN'S "Give-a-Basket" campaign, seven thousand baskets of Christmas dinners were distributed. Maybe this figure will be exceeded this year, and maybe not. Anyway, we're all going to do our best.

But already the campaign is showing fruits. Less than an hour after the announcement that the campaign was on came the first contribution, the first volunteer for the campaign.

He is Oscar E. Shepard, president and treasurer of Shepard, Clark & Company, of No. 55 Commercial street.

His contribution was the most useful possible. He contributed 2,000 wooden baskets for the rest of us to fill and distribute as baskets of concentrated happiness on Christmas Eve.

He wrote a letter by way of explaining his early enlistment in the campaign, and said:

EVERYBODY MUST ACT.

Editor Boston AMERICAN:

I note by today's AMERICAN that you intend to repeat the best exhibition of practical charity I have ever known—"Give a Basket."

It gives me great pleasure to contribute 2,000 empty baskets to be used in this good work.

OSCAR A. SHEPARD,
President-Treasurer,
Shepard, Clark & Company.

The AMERICAN doesn't claim this Campaign of Happiness all for itself. The AMERICAN will simply act as a sort of a general manager, looking out for the little details that the rest of you are too busy to concern yourselves with.

The AMERICAN will see to organizing the forces that prepare the baskets, and to investigating the families that are to receive the baskets. And, it is for the rest of you to do what remains to be done.

Seven thousand baskets is the mark set last year.

This year—how many?

$24,000,000 Coup for Man Who Is 'Not Yet of Age'

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—After the stock of the Midvale Steel and Ordnance Company, which was regarded as one of the most blithesome of Wall Street's war brides, went up from 50 to 97, and then dropped to 76, one of the financial news agencies announced:

"According to current reports Marcellus Hartley Dodge has liquidated his holdings, amounting to 120,000 shares. Mr. Dodge is not yet of age."

Investigation showed that Mr. Dodge is forty-four years old—and it is evident that he needs no committee to look after his estate.

The cost of the stock to Mr. Dodge some financiers calculated was the expense of incorporating a company in Delaware, of securing the contract for rifles and the lease of the rifle plant from the Baldwin Locomotive people.

On the assumption that Mr. Dodge's sales aggregated $60,000 shares at an average price of 80, there must be placed to the credit of Mr. Dodge $24,000,000.

Mr. Dodge inherited most of the millions left by his grandfather, Marcellus Hartley, who was president of the Remington Arms Company and vice-president of the U. M. C. in his lifetime.

GERMANS CAPTURE 7,000 SERBS AND FIFTY CANNON AT KRUSEVAC

By International News Service.

LONDON, Nov. 9.—Seven thousand Serbian soldiers and fifty cannon were captured by the German troops who took the Serbian arsenal town of Krusevac, the Berlin War Office announced today.

Bulgarian troops have captured the town of Leskovac and have also reached the Southern Morava, northwest of Aleksinac, while the German forces have stormed the Djunis Heights on the left bank of the same stream and captured the main Serbian positions south of Kraljevo.

The ring of steel drawn by the Austro-German and Bulgarian troops about the Serbian army in the northeast-beast and east is now almost complete.

The German statement on Balkan operations follows:

"German troops captured the Serbians' main positions south of Kraljevo. South of Krusevac we continue to advance farther. Our troops took by storm the Djunis Heights on the left (western) bank of the southern Morava.

SHIP GUNS TO TURKEY.

"The war booty taken by us at Krusevac has increased to 50 cannon, 10 of which were of large calibre, and 7,000 prisoners.

"General Boyadjieff's Bulgarian army has reached the southern Morava, north-west of Aleksinac and west and southwest of Nish. These forces have also occupied Leskovac, in cooperation with other Bulgarian troops."

Germany has already begun the shipment of heavy guns, ammunition and other war supplies to Turkey over the Orient railway, which was opened by the fall of Nish, according to a dispatch from Amsterdam today.

Terrific fighting continues in half a dozen different zones in Serbia. The Bulgarians claim to have inflicted heavy losses upon the Anglo-French forces south of Veles (Koprulu) and west of the Vardar valley. However, the Bulgarian War Office maintains silence as to the effect of the operations there, indicating that the Anglo-French-Serbo forces are gaining ground.

In the north the German, Austro-Hungarian and Bulgarian forces continue their victorious sweep.

RUSSIANS MASS TROOPS.

The German forces of General von Glewitz, which stormed Krushevac, are now striking against the mountain positions of the Serbs west of Nish.

"Russian batteries of heavy artillery are being concentrated on the Rumanian frontier and 200,000 Russian troops have been massed there," says an Exchange Telegraph Company dispatch from Athens.

"Guns, munitions and other war supplies are already being sent to the Bulgarian frontier by way of the Danube."

Another dispatch from Athens says that Bulgarian and Turkish cavalry are approaching Ochrida and that the civilian population is fleeing into Greece. Ochrida lies on a lake of the same name on the Serbo-Albanian border, just a few miles from the Greek frontier. It is due west of Monastir.

All dispatches, official and unofficial, indicate that the German allies hold nearly 20,000 of Serbia's 34,000 square miles of territory.

TERRIFIC NIGHT DUEL OF ARTILLERY ON WESTERN LINE

By CHARLES F. BERTELLI,
International News Service Correspondent.

PARIS, Nov. 9.—Today's official communique reports violent artillery duels during the night between the French and Germans at various points on the battle front. The communique follows:

"Rifle firing by both sides continues in the region of Loos. Farther to the south there were conflicts between patrols in which we had the advantage. Some violent bombardments by the enemy occurred in the sector of Beauvraignes and in Champagne, in the region of 'The Trapeze.' Our artillery everywhere replied very energetically.

"The night was calm on the rest of the front."

COMB SAGE TEA INTO GRAY HAIR

Darkens Beautifully and Restores Its Thickness and Lustre at Once.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous, and remove every bit of dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use bottled mixture, costing about 50 cents a large bottle, at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus avoiding a lot of muss.

While not many gray, faded hair is sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant and you appear years younger. —Advertisement.

133,000 Miles of Russia Held by the Germans

By International News Service.

PETROGRAD, Nov. 9.—An explanatory memorandum issued by the government regarding the Russian budget, which is now ready to be framed on the assumption that the war will last another year, points out the loss entailed to the Exchequer by the fact that Germany has seized Russia's richest industrial provinces, comprising an area of 133,000 square miles, with a population of 25,000,000 and with 5,333 miles of railroads.

FIRE DRILL BY 1,150 CHILDREN SETS A RECORD

Some of the 1,150 pupils of the Sacred Heart Parochial School, East Boston, leaving building during fire drill. Eighteen classes filed out in one minute and twenty seconds.

Eleven hundred and fifty pupils of the Sacred Heart Parochial School on Paris street, East Boston, marched out of the school in a minute and twenty seconds at a fire drill today. The Rev. James H. O'Neil, LL. D., pastor of the Sacred Heart Church, said he thought the quickness with which the building was emptied marked a new record for Massachusetts public schools of the size.

The eighteen classes were in the midst of their studies when at 10:31 Sister Superior Cecilia sounded the alarm. In a second boys who had been assigned to certain places in the drills opened the doors and remained in their positions while the boys and girls, of ages ranging from five to fourteen, marched out of the building.

The pupils filed out in perfect order through two exits, into Paris street and two other exits into Morris street. From the basement there are five exits.

The last pupil was out of the school at 10:31.30.

In the street the children remained in line in charge of eighteen sisters on the teaching staff. A few minutes later they re-entered the building.

The drill was in charge of Father O'Neil and Sister Superior Cecilia. The drills are held frequently, the pupils never getting an inkling when the alarm is to be sounded.

Steamer Dacia, Renamed Yser, Sunk by Germans

By International News Service.

PARIS, Nov. 9.—The French steamship Yser, formerly the American steamer Dacia, has been torpedoed and sunk by a German submarine off the Algerian coast. The Dacia was originally a German ship. She was purchased by Edward N. Breitung, a New York millionaire, and sent to Germany with a cargo of cotton.

On the way she was seized by a French warship and was later confiscated. Then her registry was changed to French and she was renamed the Yser.

The following statement was given out by the French Ministry of Marine:

"The French ship Yser, formerly the Dacia, renamed after her sale by the prize court, was torpedoed while conveying to Bizerta the passengers saved from the Italian steamer Elisa Francesca. The entire crew and passengers were landed."

LEADING MEN IN BRITAIN SCOFF AT PEACE

LONDON, Nov. 9.—In view of the insistence of the neutral press that negotiations are being carried on by Germany and Great Britain statements have been obtained from some of the most prominent men in Great Britain. Some replies are given below.

Sir Edward Grey: "I can add nothing to what was recently said in Parliament by Lloyd George: 'We should not think of entering into any peace negotiations except in common with our allies, in accordance with the agreement of September 5, 1914.' This has always been made perfectly clear."

Sir Edward Carson: "If there has been a report current abroad that even an inconclusive peace would be welcome at the present moment, I can only say that any statesman in this country who was directly or indirectly a party to such a scheme would find it impossible ever again to hold up his head among his fellow-countrymen."

H. G. Wells: "What fooling is this? Nobody in England has the remotest disposition to make peace until Germany is thoroughly beaten."

Sir Arthur Conan Doyle: "I have heard no such report as to premature peace, and if there ever has been one it is certainly of German origin. Such a thought is inconceivable to any Briton."

Sir Hiram Maxim: I am very strongly of the opinion that all the nations that are in this war would be very glad to get out of it. The Germans expected a walkover. They expected to be in Paris inside of ten days, but more than 400 days have passed and they are not there yet, and there is very little prospect they will ever get there.

"Germany has struck her blow, and as far as the government is concerned, it has been a failure. I think the Germans would be very glad if they could discover some way of stopping the war. If they do not stop it by midwinter they will be at the end of their tether."

Lansing Drops Passport Issue with Germany

By International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—The United States will not make an issue with Germany out of the charge that American passports were manufactured by German agents. Secretary of State Lansing made that plain today when he said that no answer would be sent to Germany's note received yesterday denying the charge.

The entire matter will be dropped at once.

HERMOSILLO IS CAPTURED BY CARRANZA

By International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—Carranza troops have captured Hermosillo, Admiral Winslow, commander of the Pacific fleet, wirelessed the Navy Department today from his flagship, the San Diego, which is off the Western coast of Mexico. Details of the battle in which the town was taken were not received.

GIRL RUNWAY ANTICS AT SHUBERT

By FREDERICK JOHNS.

WELL, now, let's see.

What happened last night?

Another Winter Garden show whisked into town and took rooms at the Shubert Theatre.

The gigantic audience which can be depended upon to turn out for a big girl show was present.

There was a runway which extended to the back row and around the edges of the orchestra pit and over the piano top.

Girls ran back and forth on the runway gaily, recklessly, with abandon. They pretended to fall off upon elderly gentlemen who were much pleased at the prospect. They patted the folks in the orchestra chairs with balloons. The audience reached out and climbed on its seats to capture the elusive bubbles. The people in the balconies looked down with interest. What a penance it must be to see a Winter Garden show from the balconies!

Florence Moore came out on the runway and sat down on the shoulder of the poor man who was trying to conduct the orchestra, while she sang one of her numbers.

It was what might be called a typical Winter Garden show. To be sure, the girls no longer paraded with bare legs, but nobody has passed any ordinance to that effect. Short legs shall be in the back, and there were no backs to most of these gowns.

This will fetch entertainment is entitled "Maid in America." It left the Winter Garden several months ago and came to Boston from Chicago. It is called in the program a "Revusical" production in two acts and twelve scenes, but let that pass. The book and lyrics were penned by Harold Atteridge and the music was turned out by Sigmund Romberg and Harry Carroll.

This particular shows gets by on its girls, who are numerous and exceedingly delectable (especially about six of the broilers), its snap and its slam-bang-zip methods. It is noisy, like all such pieces, dependent upon past successes like "The Phantom Rival" for what plot it has, and its rapid change of scenes to prevent ennui.

"Maid in America" is not as well equipped with stars as previous Winter Garden shows. Mlle. Dazie, a bright and charming little toe dancer, is the headliner, but she appears in only a few scenes, one of which, called "The Ballet of Color and Motion," is very pretentious and exhibits unusual dancing talent in principals and chorus.

Florence Moore is on the stage most of the time. She is lively, full of ginger and supplies most of the comedy which, by the way, is poorly billing. Swor and Mack, a vaudeville team of blackface workers, get most of the hearty laughter.

Minerva Coverdale and Rita Gould are active workers, and Sam Adams in a variety of roles, ranging from a waiter in a cabaret to Julius Caesar, exudes a pale and aromatic brand of humor.

One of the most amusing scenes is the back of the stage, where a melodrama is going on. You can see the audience on the other side, and the action of the play, and the actors who are enjoying a poker game while waiting for their cues, all at once.

One of the petit-comic features was the introduction by Florence Moore of a sextet of old women as a background for an Irish song, styled "You Can't Get Away from Sipperary." Where they gathered the poor old ladies nobody explained, but no doubt they do not mind appearing behind the footlights.

Scotney in New Bill

MME. EVELYN SCOTNEY, the coloratura soprano received by cable from her home in Australia a few days ago news of the death of her only brother. For several days she has been overwhelmed with grief, and her first impulse was to give up all her engagements and return to Australia to her parents, whose only surviving child she is. She has been decided that her parents will come to America and make their home with Mme Scotney, who in private life is Mrs. Howard White.

Mme. Scotney was booked to give a concert in Tremont Temple Thursday night, and the parents desire to cancel the engagement without causing the management heavy loss. She has accordingly agreed to sing, but has requested that one change be made in her program. She will be heralded to sing that beautiful lament of Scotland, "Will Ye No Come Back Again?" She does not feel equal to singing this song in the circumstances, and will substitute for it "Charlie Is My Darling."

Bills of Assorted Flavors

BOSTON THEATRE—Howard Estabrook and Kathryn Brownell Decker, in the five-act romance of modern business life, "The Closing Net," and Antonio Moreno and Naomi Childers in the three-act Broadway feature, "Anselo Lee," head a good double-feature bill the first three days of this week. "The Closing Net" is an exciting story of love and hate in the modern business world, and the embroiling of a business man and gambling house keeper, one of which, called "The Ballet of Color and Motion," is very pretentious and exhibits unusual dancing talent in principals and chorus.

Florence Moore is on the stage most of the time. She is lively, full of ginger and supplies most of the comedy which, by the way, is poorly billing. Swor and Mack, a vaudeville team of blackface workers, get most of the hearty laughter.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE—"The Case of Becky," by Edward J. Locke, will be presented on Thursday, replacing the farce, "Coat Tales." "The Case of Becky" is a play of absorbing interest, dealing with a case of dual personality that is cured by hypnosis. The story is founded on a case of a Boston woman who was treated successfully by Dr. Morton Prince, the noted psychologist.

FRANKLIN PARK THEATRE—Kathleen Williams and Forrest Power in the great Selig American drama, "Sweet Alyssum," the photoplay feature for the first half of the week, was a great treat to the audiences. The entire five acts are interesting and the story a gripping and appealing drama. The other photoplay features are splendid and the vaudeville headed by Ted White's Boys and Girls in a tabloid musical comedy entitled "Kidland," made a hit.

LOEW'S GLOBE THEATRE—An all star show was presented at this theatre yesterday. The head line feature was that S. Miller Kent Company in a comedy dramatic playlet, entitled "Mr. Graves." This sketch delighted the large audiences. Robinson and Nicholas, two colored comedians, delighted with their comedy and songs. A splendid team, Fort and De Lacy, pleased with their up-to-date comedy talking act. Work and Ower, two acrobats, pleased immensely. Williams and Watkins also pleased. The Remick Singers, including Charlie Bradley, presented their lasting song hits.

LOEW'S ST. JAMES THEATRE—The feature presented at this popular house was the wonderful picturization of "Trilby" with Clara Kimball Young in the leading roles. This picture was presented for the first time in Boston and delighted the large audiences. Among the vaudeville features were Green, McHenry and Deane in a new singing offering which pleased immensely. Another feature was the Five Masetti's, in a European acrobatic novelty. Hal Stephens and company presented a series of character impersonations. Honner and Power delighted with their comedy. Fink and Clarke pleased with their musical offering. The Remick Singers, including Charlie Bradley, offered their latest song hits.

WALDRON'S CASINO—The attraction for the week is Fred Irwin's famous Majestics, personally conducted this season by Mr. Irwin, who has returned to the burlesque fold, after an absence of four years, for the purpose of exploiting his newly organized Majestics. The two performances of yesterday were greeted with capacity audiences of the most enthusiastic sort, for the fame of the Majestics is known to all patrons of this form of amusement. The cast includes Florence Bennett, the charming leading lady, whose songs met with warm appreciation; Virginia Irwin, who made a big hit as Mary of "Old Kentucky Home"; Lillian Fitzmiley, one of the leading Irish character comedians on the stage today, and Charles Sherry, a "Dutch" character, who made a capital feeder for Tinley; Timmitty Preston, Bobbie Hollander, Edna Roberts, Joe Hollander, Emanuel List, one of the most wonderful of the performers; Faith Cunningham, Carmizie Roberts, Corinne Wilde, Lucia Bere, Rosie Lewis, Charles Dunn and Harry Strawbridge, assisted by the Six Zela Sisters in fancy and acrobatic dances, a double quartette and a stunning chorus of two dozen young beauties, always attractively gowned. The principal features of the big show are a wonderful ballroom scene, the sensational act entitled: "I'm Thirsty All the Time," "An Affair of Honor," and "The Prince and the Chorus Girl," a live-wire entertainment. There are daily matinees at the Casino.

MODERN THEATRE—The leading attraction this week is Robert Mantell in a photo-play entitled "The Blindness of Love." This is the eminent tragedian's film debut, and in him the screen has claimed one of its strongest players. His knowledge of pantomime acquired in the days of thorough teaching of the players' art shows in superior measure in his new field. It is a society drama in which he plays the part of a man of mature years who has married a young wife that found in him only a means to procure wealth and position. This man is guardian of a young and handsome officer who in calling upon him meets the young wife in a quite objectionable way and falls in love with the attractive woman. He carries on a disgraceful intrigue under the very nose of the unsuspecting husband, but soon tiring of the woman's charms he lavishes his affections to a pretty young girl who loves him in turn, and he proposes marriage. The wife, thus enraged at this, precipitates a crisis in which the husband learns the truth. She attempts to poison him, and he skilfully turns the tables upon her by making her a victim to her base act. This leads to a thrilling and spectacular fight between the antagonists, and the climax comes with a dramatic, and the News-Pictorial. The organ recital was unusually pleasing.

'Scotney in New Bill'

MME. EVELYN SCOTNEY, the coloratura soprano received by cable from her home in Australia a few days ago news of the death of her only brother. For several days she has been overwhelmed with grief, and her first impulse was to give up all her engagements and return to Australia to her parents, whose only surviving child she is. She has been decided that her parents will come to America and make their home with Mme Scotney, who in private life is Mrs. Howard White.

She does not feel equal to singing this song in the circumstances, and will substitute for it "Charlie Is My Darling."

GRAND OPERA HOUSE HAS STOCK

THE Grew-Pates stock company opened a permanent season of melodrama at the Grand Opera House by presenting "Electrocuted at 5 a. m." to large and appreciative audiences at both afternoon and evening performances.

The play, founded on an actual incident in army circles years ago, is powerfully dramatic, with a thrill in each of the four acts.

A captain stationed in the Philippines, learns of a friendship that has sprung up between his wife in America, and another officer, and hurries back to the States. Meanwhile, the wife, remorseful, tells her husband of her only brother. She is overjoyed to see her husband's brother, a young lieutenant, who immediately cashiers the lover.

Events follow rapidly. To warn the wife that her husband now knows all, the lover goes to her room, where they are surprised by the husband, who shoots the lover. The husband is condemned to death, but on his wife's confession that she perjured herself at the trial, he is pardoned, the pardon arriving just as he is about to die in the electric chair.

The scene shifts to the Philippines, where both the husband and wife have gone to live down their past, he as a private in the army and she as a Red Cross nurse. They finally meet and are reconciled.

William A. Grew himself was the captain. He was splendidly supported by Don Hancock, Emily Lascelles, Gwendoline Pates and other members of the company.

The second and third acts the women in the cast were presented with handsome bouquets.

'Experience' Goes Next to Wilbur

ANNOUNCEMENT is made that "Experience," the modern morality comedy drama which has been playing to such large audiences in Boston since last August, will a times its engagement in this city for four weeks at the Wilbur Theatre, beginning Monday night. Contracts to that effect were signed on that "Experience" will not depart when it closes its engagement at the Boston Opera House next Saturday night.

Credit for the extension of the engagement is due to William A. Brady, who was in Boston yesterday. Mr. Brady held a contract to present his play, "Simon," at the Wilbur Theatre. He visited the Boston Opera House. There he saw this immense drama packed with patrons. Mr. Brady made a quick decision. He went to A. L. Wilbur, manager of the Wilbur Theatre.

"You must book 'Experience' in place of my own show," he said. "Theatrical managers have got to stick together and help each other, and we must keep this play in Boston. The old-time days of managers fighting each other are over. We must work together. If one manager has a success, every other manager should help to make that success greater. Therefore, I am going to postpone my own production of 'Simon' rather than permit this remarkable play to leave Boston with thousands of people trying to buy tickets."

So next week "Experience" moves again. This will be the third booking theatre to hold "Experience" this season.

MUSIC WEEK AT KEITH'S THEATRE

MUSIC is the predominating note at Keith's this week. Heading the bill is "The New Producer," a grand opera travesty. It opens with a bare stage, showing properties strewn around in riotous profusion. This is the scene that greets the opera singer at rehearsal. There are the producer, the orchestra leader and the singers, ready for dress rehearsal.

A new singer appears, applies for a position and is at first refused, but she sits at the piano and sings "The Kiss" made famous by Fritzi Scheff. Following this the company rehearses the "Toreador" song and the "Prayer" and finishes with the Sextet from "Lucia."

The company included fourteen persons and under the leadership of Ignacio Castro, went through each number with dramatic appeal. Miss Marie Irene Kolb was the premier danseuse.

A distinct innovation is the vaudeville debut of Miss Beatrice Herford, whose monologues have been a feature at society functions in New York, Boston and other Eastern cities for several years. She gives "An Intelligence Office," where a suburban housewife tries to hire a cook and second girl; "At the Box Office," showing two women trying to decide which seats they will buy for a matinee; and "Behind the Counter," being a few minutes with a young woman clerk whose mind is really on her social affairs rather than on her sales. All these are delightfully amusing in a quiet, cultured fashion.

The Avon Comedy Four, oldtimers at Keith's, returned in their farce, "The New Teacher," with new jokes and new songs.

Agnes Scott and Henry Keane, in "The Final Decree," written by Miss Scott, have a skit entirely unlike any dramatic sketch seen at Keith's.

Others on this bill are the Arco brothers, billed as the modern Ramsons; Elida Morris, singing comedienne; John and Winnie Hennings, the "Kill Kare" couple, in burlesque songs and dances, and the Danube quartet, acrobats.

Plays Remaining in Boston Houses

HOLLIS STREET THEATRE—Elsie Ferguson has added another Boston success to the long list which she has won hereabouts, and "Outcast" has taken its place in the ranks of favor. The second week of Miss Ferguson's engagement opened at the Hollis Street Theatre.

COLONIAL THEATRE—Graceful and clever, pretty girls and dazzling costumes form a combination especially pleasing at the Colonial Theatre, where "Watch Your Step" began the second week of its engagement, with an audience which filled the theatre. New York and the Boston verdict is quite in accord with the previous expression of opinion.

TREMONT THEATRE—Though now in its seventh week at the Tremont Theatre, "On Trial" continues to be cordially received by audiences as large and enthusiastic as those which greeted it on its arrival here fresh from its New York triumphs.

WILBUR THEATRE—It is to be sincerely regretted that such a thoroughly entertaining comedy as Bernard Shaw's "Androcles and the Lion," presented by Annie Russell's Company, "Mrs. Who Married a Dumb Wife," should have to leave the Wilbur Theatre this week.

PARK SQUARE THEATRE—"Twin Beds," the Selwyn & Company's laugh festival, began its eleventh week at the Park Square Theatre with its appeal for popularity still being answered as generously as ever.

PLYMOUTH THEATRE—"Back Home" began its final week at the Plymouth Theatre. This newest play of Bayard Veiller, founded on Irvin Cobb's Judge Priest stories, has proved one of the season's pleasantest offerings.

Coming Event

MARIE TEMPEST has added another American triumph to her list of popular successes. All this Fall she was seen in the revival of "The Duke of Killicrankie," and the first American production of J. M. Barrie's "Rosalind." She has an all-star cast to support her, and Graham Browne and all her other associates in the long engagement at the Lyceum Theatre, New York, will come to Boston for the season, which will open at the Hollis Street Theatre on Monday, November 22.

Toy Theatre Prize

MRS. LYMAN W. GALE, director of the Toy Theatre, where Cyril Harcourt's new comedy, "A Thief in the Sun," has made a great success, offers a prize of $10 to the writer of the best characterization of the play, which must not more than fifty words, with the best suggestion of any change in the cast or performance not to exceed twenty words.

To Keep Straightest, Smoothest, Most Lasting Hair in Curl

(Woman's Tribune)

The straightest, smoothest hair can be kept in curl by such simple and harmless means that the use of the curling, singeing, blistering curling iron is altogether unnecessary. One need only get a few ounces of plain liquid silmerine from the druggist and apply a little to the hair before retiring. The result will be quite remarkable, as the curling stays will show in the morning. The hair will be delightfully wavy, fluffy and glossy, without being in the least greasy, gummy or streaked.

The silmerine is best put on with a clean tooth brush, drawing this through the hair from crown to tip, preferably after dividing it into strands. The application seems to gradually improve the texture and growth of the hair.—Advertisement.

Don't Neglect Backache

Pains in the back are danger signals that should always be heeded. Get the first twinge got from any drug store a five-ounce package of rheumasalts and take two teaspoonfuls before breakfast each morning. This will cause the liver to become active and cleanse the kidneys from impurities which cause backache. In a few days you will feel far more comfortable.—Advertisement.

All American records bid fair being cracked in the six-day bicycle grind which got under way at the Arena at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The field of eleven starry teams, now battling in Boston's tenth annual race, cracked practically every hourly mark in their first day's bike.

Only Tim Sullivan of New Haven, Ct., and Warren Holbrook of South Boston fell behind. This team, losing a lap early, remained a lap to the bad when the riders got through their racing at 2 a. m. As for the ten other teams, they are locked with 250 miles, 1 lap, which excels the 1914 opening day mark.

Eddie Root of Boston, who is paired with Willie Hanley, the Newark flyer, had the distinction of leading the field at the end of the first hour. He negotiated twenty-six miles and five laps, an even mile faster than was ridden in the first hour in the 1914 race.

The Arena, though only fairly well filled when Senator William Robinson of Chelsea sent the field away at 4 p. m., was practically packed at 8:30, and, as the evening wore on, the crowd increased. The new track is a remarkable track. It was lightning "fast," as proven by the first day's speed.

GRENDA WINS PREMIUM.

Jimmy Moran, the Arena flyer, paired with Marcel Duppy of France, rode the first forty minutes before giving way to his partner. The other teams made constant changes in the first hour's riding. Big Alf Grenda, who is riding with Fred Hall, a member of the 1914 winning team, was the first special sprint prize. Then Eddie Root pocketed a premium.

The big thrill came shortly before 1 o'clock when Frank Corry of Australia, who is teamed with Francis Verri, the Italian champion, tried to steal a lap on the field. He tore loose from the squad and was soon fully twenty-five yards to the good.

Quickly the relief riders came out. All told, seven mounts plugged after Corry and they finally succeeded in wearing him down.

The track was cleared at 10:30 to allow for a special motorcycle race between Jim Hunter and Charles Turville over a mile course. Hunter won in 2:15 3-5.

Tim Sullivan won the special ten-lap sprint race from Tom McNamara by half a wheel.

PLENTY OF SPILLS.

Though there were many spills during the afternoon and evening none of the riders sustained serious injury. With few exceptions the men are in good shape for the grind.

Prominent in the press enclosure is Frank Kramer, the American sprint champion, who is reporting the race for a Newark, N. J., newspaper. George Wiley, the pace follower, is another interested spectator. He was scheduled to ride with Eddie Madden Tuesday but not like ten-hour events, and Tom Grimm, a Newark boy, was substituted.

There was no intermission between midnight and the first day's riding was brought to a close by a brisk sprint at 2 a. m. The race will be resumed at 4 p. m.

Middies' Leader Returns.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 9.—Head Coach Ingram is schooling the Middies in some new plays and the squad is picking them up with a pleasing alacrity. Captain Miles was back on the field, but is not in the work. Davis, Vail, von Homburg and Craig completed the backfield, and the quartet showed lots of speed.

Trinity to Play Brickley.

HARTFORD, Ct., Nov. 9.—Trinity has informed Columbia that it plans using George Brickley in Saturday's game. The graduate advisory board has drafted a new set of eligibility rules and has bones that they will be generally accepted.

WING SHIFT IS TRUMP CARD OF ELIS

NEW HAVEN, Ct., Nov. 9.—Yale's opening scrimmage practice of the week for the Tiger game in Princeton Saturday took place yesterday afternoon and the freshmen were brought over to the Bowl to face the varsity. As the 1915 team will meet its Harvard class rivals in Cambridge Saturday both coaches will be greatly benefited by the session.

The Yale coaches have four positions to decide by the work of the candidates today, the last afternoon on which scrimmaging will be ordered this week. Left end is still a tossup between "Buck" Church, Hinsdale; Higginbotham and Moseley.

CHURCH IS DEVELOPING.

Church surprised the coaches by his all-round cleverness in last Saturday's clash with Brown. Higginbotham is the most experienced player of the trio, while Moseley played the position in every game this season till last Saturday.

At left tackle Gates displayed tip-top form last Saturday, but his low weight makes it likely that the veteran Baldridge, who has not scrimmaged for a month, will start the Princeton game.

It is probable that Black will be given left guard and Kent right guard today, although Jim Sheldon was used at right guard yesterday, with Kent kept in reserve.

SAVAGE WANTED IN GAME.

Van Nostrand is the probable choice for quarterback against the Tigers. However, Savage is still a possibility. But for a weak knee he would surely be started against Princeton.

Coach Tom Shevlin's belief that unfamiliarity with his "wing shift" plays made it impossible for Yale to gain ground on Brown last Saturday, and that the Elis will be able to pierce the Tiger rushline freely with them next Saturday, has caused the Yale home crowd to pick up new courage. The famous "Minnesota wing shift" will be Yale's trump card in the remaining games of the season.

Lafayette Hits It Up.

EASTON, Pa., Nov. 9.—Lafayette is hard at it for Saturday's game with Penn State. Head Coach Cowell has a full squad at work and is conducting his work behind closed gates.

"THE RABBITS" COLUMN

by Walter J. Maranville

SHORTSTOP OF THE BRAVES

George Wright, the one-time king of shortstops, hale and hearty at sixty-eight, comes forward with the suggestion that the outfielders be barred from using gloves. He thinks it would make the game better, saying:

"All the time I played shortstop I never used a glove. They are all right for infielders, as the game is played today, but I would have the outfielders work with bare hands. I know that this would make Tris Speaker and Ty Cobb raise a howl, but I believe in it just the same."

* * *

The hustling short fielder who, as captain and manager of the Providence team brought the National League championship to that city in 1879, is still the idol of the old-timers. He is a great devotee of golf and spends practically every afternoon on the links.

* * *

Incidentally Wright furnishes a new version of the famous unassisted triple play Paul Hines of the Providence Nationals made in 1878. The veteran says:

* * *

"I was on the Boston team at the time and we went down to Providence to play. At the time the triple play was made by Hines there were Boston men on second and third bases. The batter hit a Texas Leaguer and it was obvious to the coacher on third base that it was going over the shortstop's head.

* * *

"Consequently, the coach signalled wildly for the two runners to go home. Hines came in with a burst of speed from centre field, made a remarkable scooping catch of the ball just as it was about to hit the ground, and ran all the way to third base. The man on third was home and the man who had been on second had crossed third and was nearly half-way home. So by touching the third bag Hines forced two out.

"The coach on third was dumbfounded. He never thought for a second that Hines would try for the play; in fact he did not realize what happened until it was all over. I know—because I was the coacher on third."

TIGER STUDENTS PAY RESPECTS TO RUSH

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 9.—Almost the entire undergraduate body turned out in a parade which went to Princeton Junction and met the Princeton team upon its return from Atlantic City. Cheer after cheer rang through the air as the dejected warriors left the train, and a wild cry of praise broke up a uniform cheer as Head Coach "Speedy" Rush descended the steps.

This testimonial to Rush was the outward expression of how the students feel towards him. Regardless of the defeat by Harvard, the undergraduates realize that the new coach has molded together a team which has displayed more knowledge and better ability than any eleven in recent years, and they believe that Princeton now has a football system which, with proper support, will lead to the championship.

TIGERS IN LAST DRIVE.

An hour after the team arrived, Rush had the players on the field and commenced the last drive before the Yale game. All the regulars, excepting Driggs and Gennert, reported. The former was excused, but the latter has not fully recovered from the slight injury which he received in the Harvard battle. Trainer Keene Fitzpatrick would not allow Gennert to practice.

There was no scrimmage for the varsity, and their hardest work was an hour's signal drill. The second team held a severe scrimmage with the scrubs. Using a bunch of Yale plays and formations the scrubs tried to make some impression against the second team, but only on one or two occasions were they able to make substantial gains, while the second had little trouble in scoring, going over for two touchdowns.

MOORE SCORES TWICE.

The fleet "Billy" Moore was the star against the scrubs. His long end runs were the direct cause of both touchdowns. The second team was run by Ames, and the tandem consisted of Moore, Eddy and Dickerman. Coach Rush kept the men scrimmaging until dark.

The hard work of the year is over so far as the varsity is concerned. While light scrimmages will be held today and tomorrow most of the time will be spent in signal drill.

Greater Boston Bowling Items

WHILE the Mystic Valley League officially got under way last night, the real opening comes tonight, when six of the eight teams fire their first volleys. The Highland Club of Melrose is back in the ranks, replacing the Medfords, which resigned.

* * *

THE "Barrel Pin" is the latest along the bowling rialto. This maple, which is a little heavier than the Boston pin, is being used in the Abington Y. M. C. A. League, composed of men and women. The organization comprises ten teams, three men and three women comprising each outfit.

* * *

THE Typewriter League rolls its first set of matches tonight on the Summer Street Alleys. Eight teams will square off. The schedule, which consists of twenty-ones weeks, three times around, runs into the first week in April.

* * *

GILMOUR, Rothery & Co. jumped into the lead in the Fire Insurance League when John C. Paige & Co. lost four to Field & Cowles and Wylde & Windeler dropped all to Kaler, Carney & Littler.

* * *

FERDINAND and Paige are tied for first place in the Furniture League, each team having won six and lost two. Stiles has piled up a fairly good lead among the individuals, being a fraction shy of an even 100 mark.

THE Newton League bowling process is on. Although the season is only five weeks old, three teams have already practically been eliminated. These quintets, Maugus Hunnewell and B. A. A., may "come back," but their chances of doing so are considered very, very slim.

THE Library Bureau boys are furnishing as pretty a race as one would wish to see. There is only a matter of four points between the first five teams. The Compositors are about done for.

* * *

"DUCKY" HOLMES and Charley Gangi, the respective leaders in the Greater Boston and City Leagues refuse to budge. Holmes is adding to his average, while Gangi is holding tight.

* * *

THE Adams Square League race bids fair to rival that of last season which ended in a "blanket" finish. Every starter, with the possible exception of one, has a chance. Callie Woods is leading, but only by a single point.

* * *

FILENE has dropped back in the Ladies' Corporation League, and Edison Light is now showing the way. United Drug Co. is a bang-up third.

* * *

EVERETT is going along very smoothly in the Odd Fellows' race. Only one loss in twenty-four games is its nifty record.

Now Brown Bent Upon Doing Up Mahan, King & Co

PROVIDENCE, Nov. 9.—"Moose" Tenney, '13, one of Brown's old backfield heroes, has joined the squad of coaches and plans helping out in seeing that Harvard is vanquished Saturday. Brown defeated Yale last Saturday and is now bent upon laying out the Crimson.

Nor, locally, is much doubt expressed but that Brown will succeed in whipping the conquerers of the Princeton Tigers. The student body wants Percy Haughton to use all his stars Saturday, so that the battle will be close. With Haughton putting in a lot of subs it is feared up on the Hill that the score will be very one-sided.

Captain Andrews and Murphy are being drilled in drop-kicking. The former booted one over "in the punch" against the Elis and is favored to repeat against Harvard. Murphy, too, is a reliable kick.

Cornell Banks Upon Being Crowned King

ITHACA, N. Y., Nov. 9.—Cornell's great eleven is now being put into shape for Saturday's game with Washington and Lee. Then comes Pennsylvania Thanksgiving Day, and if the Ithacans wind up with two creditable victories, it is confidently believed on all sides here that the football sharps will award the Big Red the 1915 football championship.

Head Coach Sharpe has been summoned to New Haven, Ct., where his mother-in-law died, and Reed and Van Orman will handle the squad until he returns. Shelton and Rockey, Miller's only payers hurt in the Michigan contest, are rapidly getting over their bruises and both are confident they will be able to get into the practice by the end of the week.

Michigan End Runs Out on Coach Yost

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 9.—Michigan's squad came through the Cornell fray with a few surface scratches, but nothing worse, and they will be in shape for the Pennsylvania game Saturday. Jack Benton has absented himself from the training table, and rumor has it that the crack end will quit the squad because of a disagreement with Coach Yost.

Miller at Full for Penn.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 9.—The University of Pennsylvania started the week's practice in preparation for Michigan by sending Henry Miller, who has been playing right end, to fullback. The announcement of the coaches that Howard Berry would not be permitted to play, even on the scrub team, has aroused considerable discussion among the students.

Maroons Next Play Gophers.

CHICAGO, Nov. 9.—Coach Stagg sent his University of Chicago team through some intricate formations, with which he expects to score against the heavy Gopher team at Minneapolis next Saturday.

Cadets to Buck Maine.

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 9.—The Cadets play Maine on the local gridiron next Saturday. The squad came out of the Notre Dame contest in good shape.

Duffy Lewis, W. S. Hero, on the Stage

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 9.—Duffy Lewis, the hard-hitting left fielder of the Red Sox and hero of the World's Series, is off to a running start in his three weeks' tour over the Pantages circuit. He tells the "fans" how he did it, twice a day, pulling a wall-written monologue in clever fashion.

Charlie Case is on the same bill with Lewis. He claims that he hasn't anything on Duffy as a comedian, even if the famous baseball player does not know it.

Algar Back with Tufts.

Tufts' squad resumes work today, after taking it easy yesterday, as a result of most of the players being mussed up in the Trinity game. Bowdoin will be met Saturday. Algar is back with the squad and Thorndike will resume work at centre.

All-Nationals Cop Again.

POCATELLO, Idaho, Nov. 9.—The All-Nationals defeated the All-Americans, 6 to 5.

Kiley, B.C. Star, Is Out of Game for the Season

Coach Steve Mahoney was forced to give the Boston College squad a layoff because of the large number of cripples. Quarterback Harry Kiley is out for the season with two broken fingers, and Walter Lowney, whose long end runs feasured the Fordham game, received a general shaking up which will keep him out of the practice until late in the week. Kirke, Dulles and Jack Sullivan remain on the injured list. Centre Vin Murray is ready for the fray.

Boston College is scheduled to play Connecticut State at Storrs Saturday, but so great has been the interest taken by alumni and students in the home games this Fall that Manager Reynolds is endeavoring to have the game transferred to University Heights.

King Eddie Mahan Counts 42 Points

The Harvard varsity has scored 107 points to date and has had twenty-nine points totaled against it. The Crimson scorers are:

Captain Mahan—Four touchdowns, six goals from touchdowns, three field goals, one goal from placement—42 points.

Kilbon—Two touchdowns—12 points.

Brewster—Two touchdowns—12 points.

McClintock—One touchdown, one field goal.—9 points.

Hartz, Howard, Farnum, Rollins, Willetz (each)—One touchdown—6 points.

Robinson—Two goals from touchdowns—2 points.

Everett Boy Is Pilot.

HANOVER, N. H., Nov. 9.—Jackson W. Cannell, Everett's former star quarterback, has been elected captain of the Dartmouth Freshmen eleven.

ELI MEN BACKED HARVARD AT PRINCETON

By HERMAN NICKERSON.

That the Harvard football coaches feel perfectly satisfied with the showing made by the Crimson team against the Tigers last Saturday was expressed in the lack of any form of practice by the varsity squad yesterday.

Satisfaction comes from victory and the improvement in the team was such as to warrant a day of rest and recreation; an afternoon spent free from the work and worry of preparation for another contest. The men were given permission to do what they liked, and a majority of the members of the squad came to town for the vaudeville shows of the afternoon.

Yale's confidence in the ability of Harvard to win over Princeton comes to light through the fact that $4,000 of Yale money was sent to Princeton and covered at evens on Harvard.

Then will be little hard work at Cambridge in preparation for the Brown game this Saturday. The team came through the Princeton struggle in good condition generally and it is doubtful if the coaches have any chances with the men during this week's work. Talks and workouts with a goal practice in all likely to be about all there is to the program before the little Brown Bear creeps into the Stadium.

LIGHT WORK PRESCRIBED.

Scrimmage work is a thing which has figured very largely in the preparation for the Tiger game and there is certainly not much fear that the direction of Instructor Harvard think it necessary to put the men through that kind of work for the Brown team.

While the score was a surprise to a majority of the followers, it seems now as if the feeling on the Harvard team was one of great confidence in their ability to down the Tigers.

In days of not so long ago at that, star teams sent up from New Haven consistently, pointing to the number of invalids on the squad and hinting that only the Yale spirit could carry the team through another Harvard. A little of this kind of bear news seems to have been heard from Cambridge, and alone the lines of the team, but in the general statement of the kind of work being done in practice.

The wonderful change in team play, the strength of the line and the perfection in the passing department of the game would tend to prove that there is still much in the Harvard team that is being kept under cover for the proper moment to take the lid off.

BROWN ROOTERS HOPEFUL.

None but the most faithful of fans and partisans of Brown think for a moment that that team has a chance to beat Harvard. The success of the little Bruin's bear against Yale was the result of a combination of Eli weaknesses and Brown's plugging. A field goal was enough to score a win, but aside from being able to hold the Yale attack at the line outset of the game, the Brown boys didn't threaten to any great extent.

They were playing against a weaker team than they will find in the Stadium. They, to be sure, had Pollard to carry the ball, and that boy is some wonder; but, with the defence Harvard showed at Princeton, Pollard's work is not likely to stand forth with such prominence.

Mahan's kicking will undoubtedly be a feature of the game Saturday. His backfield will work with greater smoothness, always with an eye on the Yale games, if the coaches should decide to send in the second string men against Brown. A period or so, the chief hope for a Brown score would not be materially increased, it would seem.

Still, football is uncertain and dopeing is not the safest thing in the sporting world. Brown enjoyed for the first time in four years the full exhilaration of chanting songs of a conqueror upon the Elis' soil.

HILL SQUAD IS PLUCKY.

These men from Providence have that confidence in their team, and their faces are turned to Cambridge and the Stadium. It would be a fine thing for Brown to win over Yale and Harvard in the same year, and the Bear is being fed on raw meat for such a possibility. Still, that possibility looks about as vague and tangible as a mirage.

If Harvard was confident of winning from Princeton, and the men certainly were, then the Brown-Yale score has not distorted their point of view. Monday, nor is it likely to cause wakeful hours during the balance of the week. Harvard does not hold Brown cheaply, but none at Cambridge figure the little Brown Bear to have a chance.

Today the Crimson team will be out for a workout, nothing more strenuous than signal work and individual instruction by the coaches. The real development of the Crimson team will come a week hence when the Yale Bulldog's footsteps are heard advancing toward Cambridge.

BIG GREEN BENT UPON FLAYING SYRACUSE

HANOVER, N. H., Nov. 9.—Most of Dartmouth's players today are stiff and sore as a result of Saturday's game against Pennsylvania. The entire squad seems greatly disappointed over the result. Despite the fact that Coach Cavanaugh warned his men that Penn would have a hard proposition, they appeared over confident and scarcely played at top speed.

In the light signal practice starting the week the lean and toughened Green warriors showed a dogged determination that bids well to bring victory in the last two games of the season. Now that his men realize just what work is still before them, Coach Cavanaugh says he is well satisfied.

There has been a great deal of experimenting all Fall, and not until now could it be determined what players completed the first team. The line and ends are fairly settled and the bulk of the coaching can now be directed in other channels.

The ability and fullness of the backfield men is known and now they can be better rounded. Practically all of Cavanaugh's energy this week will be devoted to the position of quarter back. To satisfy the coach, one of the four aspirants, Switzer, Worthington, Holbrook or McDonough, must come through.

The Bates game at Hanover, Saturday, will definitely decide who will call the signals in the important game against Syracuse, November 20. Every man on the squad realizes that Syracuse is one of the strongest elevens in the country, and will try his best to bring the Greens' season to a successful close.

All the players are in good shape for the Bates battle, and the Hanover boys are not anticipating any particular difficulty in downing the visitors.

Cutler Looms up as Wrestling Titilist

NEW YORK Nov 9 Charles Cutler, claimant of the American heavyweight wrestling championship, today loomed up as a possible winner of the international title. Cutler disposed of Frits Mohl, the Giant Swede, with an arm hold, after 9 minutes and 30 seconds of spirited wrestling in the first session of the second International wrestling tournament. Graeco-Roman style, at the Manhattan Opera House last night.

Charles Loson, England, and Georges Lurich, Russia, wrestled to a twenty-minute draw; Rasmus Johnson, Sweden, and Ivan Linow, Russia also drew, while Herrman Siebring, Germany, disposed of Ludwig Lemm, Sweden, in 5 minutes and 41 seconds.

Gilmore Admits Two Clubs Plan Quitting Feds

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 9.—That there will be a Federal club in New York next year was the statement of President James A. Gilmore, who is in attendance at the annual meeting of the "outlaws."

"The Kansas City and Buffalo clubs each owe the league several thousand dollars," Gilmore said, "and unless they pay up their franchises probably will be forfeited."

It is more than likely the Kansas City franchise will be forfeited in order to place a team in New York. Harry Sinclair, owner of the Newark Federals, would be glad to take over the New York club.

Kansas City lost $11,000 this year and owes the league $2,500. Buffalo also owes a large amount, but there is a movement on foot to raise enough to pay off the debt.

Amherst Stars Are Returning to Fold

AMHERST, Nov. 9.—Head Coach Tim Daley is tuning up Amherst for the big annual combat with Williams. The varsity feels mighty good over following up its Brown victory with a triumph over Middlebury and is confident of bagging Saturday's game. Coach "Bill" Talbot is back with the squad, while Shelton Corbett will resume work no later than Friday.

Quarterback "Billy" Tow has recovered from the injuries received in the Dartmouth contest and will be ready to do the piloting if called upon by the coaches when the Purple and White goes to Williamstown.

R. Norris Williams Will Stay in Game

R. Norris Williams '14, former national tennis champion in singles, and three times collegiate title-holder, is not going to quit the courts on his graduation in June. Harvard next June. Williams declares that he is going to keep trying until he makes a big effort to regain the national title.

Williams' decision declares that on his showing during the past year he is the real emperor of the tennis world. While holding Johnston in the International championship tournament, Grasco-Roman style, at the Manhattan Opera House last night.

GROTON AT BEST FOR ST. MARK'S BATTLE

GROTON, Nov. 9.—Grotonians are journeys to Southboro tomorrow where the annual gridiron battle between Groton and St. Mark's will be fought.

Groton has won five of its seven games this Fall and, considering that the team has been without the services of several of its stars the greater part of the season, its record is highly creditable.

Groton's lineup for the St. Mark's game has not been definitely settled upon. The backfield will be picked from Coolidge, Wrenn, Washburn, Frothingham and Lamb. The latter has played two, although regulars on last year's eleven, have been out of the game the greater part of this season on account of injuries.

The line is solid from Wise the return of Captain Hallowell to left guard after a two weeks absence, the choices for the other positions are Adams, Newcomb, Lowell, Hooper, Adams, Newcomb, Lowell, Hooper, Messinger and Patterson. The best for pairing Harvard against St. Mark's on November 20.

Groton has all ended Adams, Davenmeyer at center and Hall will great success. The ends are supplemented by Bigelow, Archer, Porter, both veterans well versed in positions, while King and Richardson are reserves.

Other probable members of the squad are Lowell, Lamb and Adams, backs and Pike, Graves and Whitney, lineman. Lamson and King will alternate the drop kicking against St. Mark's.

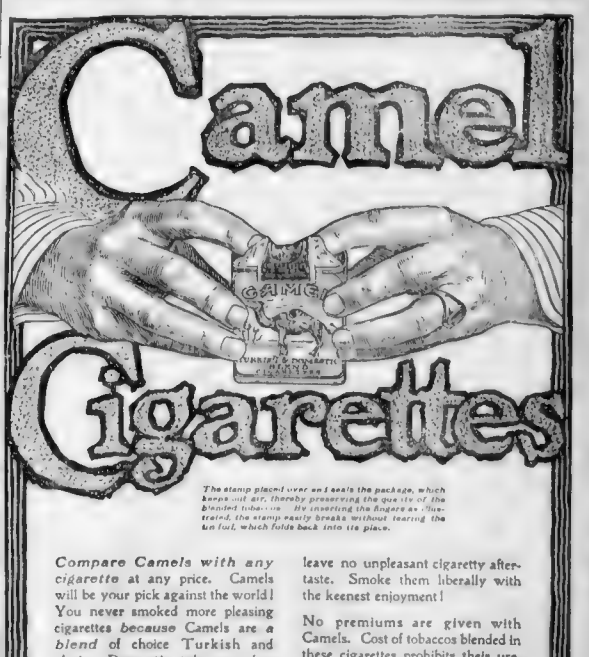
LEGAL STAMPS



The stamp placed over an I seals the package, which keeps out air, thereby preserving the quality of the blended tobaccos. By inserting the fingers as illustrated, the stamp nearly breaks without tearing the tin foil, which folds back into its place.

Compare Camels with any cigarette at any price. Camels will be your pick against the world! You never smoked more pleasing cigarettes because Camels are a blend of choice Turkish and choice Domestic tobaccos that creates a new flavor! You'll prefer them to either kind of tobacco smoked straight!

Consider how different in taste Camels must be; how much real pleasure they give when we tell you they can't bite or parch, and leave no unpleasant cigaretty after-taste. Smoke them liberally with the keenest enjoyment!

No premiums are given with Camels. Cost of tobaccos blended in these cigarettes prohibits their use.

Camels are sold everywhere in scientifically sealed packages, 20 for 10c; or 10 packages (200 cigarettes) in a glassine-covered carton for $1.00. We strongly recommend this carton for the home or office supply or when you travel.

Itching Eczema

Eczema and other skin diseases rarely cure the worst cases, but even worse cases yield week by week until the sufferer is entirely cured with little time lost from work. Don't waste time taking something and get a box of D.D.D. Prescription at once and it improves the first day, at once a cessation of itching is noticed, usually before the first bottle is used, and improvement is noticed continually. People who have itched and scratched for years find sleep and rest soon after D.D.D. is applied. Adv. It is a clear and true statement to say that D.D.D. Prescription clears the skin of pimples, rash, freckles, black heads, chapped skin, scaly skin, chalmugy, pores, eczema, itching and irritation. —Advertisement.

SHE DARKENED HER GRAY HAIR

A Kansas City Lady Darkened Her Gray Hair and Stimulated Its Growth by a Simple Home Process

She Tells How She Did It

A well-known resident of Kansas City, Mo., who darkened her gray hair by a simple home process, has written a full statement. Any lady or gentleman can darken the gray or faded hair artificially and stimulate its growth in a few days, and will find this recipe to be just what is needed. Mix a small box of Bay Rum, a small box of Glycerine and a half ounce of Sage Tea. Any druggist will put these up for you. Apply to the hair with a sponge or brush, combing it through so that the hair will not be sticky. In a few days the gray hair will disappear entirely, and the hair will grow thick and heavy. It will not only darken the hair, but will stop it from falling out, and cause a new growth to appear. It is said to be excellent for dandruff, and for an itching scalp. Adv.

WOMEN CAN HARDLY BELIEVE

How Mrs. Hurley Was Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Eldon, Mo.—"I was troubled with displacement, inflammation and female weakness for two years. I could not stand on my feet long at a time and I could not walk two blocks without enduring cutting and craving pains down my right side which increased every month. I have been at that time purple in the face and would walk the floor. I could not lie down at all still sometimes for a day and a night at a time. I was nervous, and had very little appetite, no ambition, melancholy, and often felt as though I had not a friend in the world. After I had tried most every female remedy without success, my friends advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so and gained in strength every day. I have now no trouble in any way, and highly praise your medicine. It advertises itself."—Mrs. S. T. HURLEY, Eldon, Missouri.

Remember, the remedy which did this was Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. For sale everywhere.

It has helped thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, irregularities, bearing-down pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, indigestion, and nervous prostration, after all other means have failed. Why don't you try it? It has helped others, why not you?

NEW HAVEN PAID $175,000 FOR A 'NUISANCE'

By L. V. B. RECKEN.

Staff Correspondent of the International News Service.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9. — The New Haven Railroad in its extension period considered the Poughkeepsie Eastern Railway, a part of the Central New England Railway, to be a "nuisance." For that reason the New Haven purchased the road for $175,000.

A letter written by Charles S Mellen, president of the New Haven in 1904, to the late J. P. Morgan, then the dominant factor in the affair of the New Haven suggested that the Poughkeepsie and Eastern was a nuisance and that Mellen asked permission to buy it. The road at that time was in the hands of a receiver, H. J. Slocum, who had offices with the late Russell Sage.

What did you mean by a nuisance?" Robert L. Batts, special assistant Attorney General, asked Mellen.

"You know what a nuisance is?" said Mellen. "Anything that's in your way is a nuisance. That road was a nuisance. It was in my way. It interfered with me. I did not like to see it there."

The government then read from the New Haven minute books for 1904, showing that when the New Haven acquired the Poughkeepsie and Eastern. That road was connected with the Central New England Railroad.

The opposing lawyers were almost instantly in a wrangle over the reading of letters. When the government read them all R. V. Lindabury objected that they were taking up too much time. When on the advice of Judge Hunt, the prosecutors attempted to read only salient parts of the letters, Delancey Nicoll objected, saying the government was omitting parts favorable to the defendants. Finally Judge Hunt undertook to look over all exhibits before they were read, and also ordered Batts to show the letters to the defence lawyers before reading them.

TODAY'S STOCK MARKET

By W. H. ROSS, Financial Editor

Stocks were weak in the last hour, "war orders" depressing the market. Washington dispatch says Lord Kitchener has been sent to India because the revolt there against the British has caused a critical condition. Among declines in New York at 2:15 were Allis-Chalmers 2¾, Lackawanna Steel 2, American Locomotive 1¾, Baldwin 1¾, Colorado Fuel 1¾, Distillers 2½, General Electric 1¾, General Motors 15, Goodrich 2¾, Studebaker 12, Utah-Copper 2½, Tennessee Copper 2¾, Ispiration 1¾, Anaconda 2¾, Utah ¾, Chino ¾, St. Paul 1¾, Pennsylvania ¾, Northern Pacific 1¾ and Union Pacific ¾. Most railroads showed fractional declines. War orders had rallied from their lowest.

Among gains were American Can ¾, American Sugar ¼, Crucible ¾, Mexican Petroleum ¾, Southern Pacific "Mop" ¾, Lehigh Valley ¾ and U. S. Steel ¾.

Largest losses in Boston included Allouez 1¾, Calumet & Arizona 2¾, Copper Range 1, Granby 2, Isle Royale 1, Osceola 3½, Wolverine 2, Tamarack 2, Mohawk 1¾, Trinity 1, American Zinc 1¾, Atlantic Gulf common 1, preferred 1¾, United Fruit 1¾ and New Haven 1¾. Boston & Maine gained 2½.

There was enormous demand for spelter on European account. Prime Western was quoted at 15½ to 16c a pound.

The New York stock market was very active in the afternoon.

PRICE TREND INDEFINITE.

Prices ruled higher in New York at the opening, but at the end of fifteen minutes, overnight buying orders having been executed, selling pressure was resumed. The list became irregular and then weakened more. A rallying tendency developed later in the first hour and the market ruled firm in the second. By noon the majority of issues showed gains ranging from fractions to several points. But during the morning and at midday the price trend seemed indefinite and the process of readjusting was still going on. It was believed that most of the stop orders placed previous to yesterday had been reached and that the weakest bull element had been eliminated. However, that was the view yesterday before bears made a successful afternoon drive.

Early today war orders as a group showed more activity and the market is more or less affected by the vague idea there is now behind peace talk than statesmen admit. War "news" is not providing additional support for war industrials. A full sentiment has record crops, expanding foreign trade and a general improvement in domestic business for a foundation. Room traders were aggressive, but it is said there was but no extensive unloading by the public. "The most remarkable thing about the opening," says the Boston News Bureau, "was absence of nervous crowds in commission houses. The tendency was comparatively light, and there were no signs of anxiety such as are easily detected at times when the public get caught in a break, and are obliged to withdraw through inability to furnish additional margins."

THINK MARKET ACTED WELL.

Selling pressure has been strong at times for several days and most observers think the market has acted well under the circumstances. Buying on the decline this morning is said to have been of a good character. Early in the afternoon there was ample capacity to absorb offerings and all kinds of issues sagged. Bears were insistent that the break in prices is due because of the war situation and that a decline in one or two stocks is sure to have adverse effect upon rails and coppers. News that Lord Kitchener has been sent to India was one cause for the sharp decline this afternoon in war industrials.

Buying by the public, it is claimed, has greatly subsided and there is also no support of consequence by big men who expect to have a chance to accumulate at a lower price level. The market was more active than yesterday's but morning trading did not quite total half a million shares.

OUR FIRST DUTY IS TO MAINTAIN PEACE; OUR NEXT DUTY IS TO PREPARE FOR WAR

The AMERICAN disapproves of a loan to prolong the war in Europe and is unwilling to accept any money for advertising such a loan. The AMERICAN does not, however, feel at liberty to deprive its readers of the statements of the proponents of the loan, whether in news text or in advertising. The AMERICAN therefore prints the advertisement of the loan, but contributes the money paid therefor to the Red Cross, in the hope of relieving some of the suffering and injury which a war loan will inevitably cause.

Fear Magnifies Everything

Look with Your Own Eyes, Not Frightened, and You Will Win

Copyright, 1915, by the Star Company.

THERE are millions of men, women and children who need the lesson that this picture teaches.

The man is tied, hands and feet, with a weak thread that he could break in a moment.

But he looks at it through the MAGNIFYING GLASS OF FEAR, the tiny thread becomes a huge cable, and he sits in despair, not trying to free himself.

This is not exaggerated, but a real picture, a picture of the life of more than half of all human beings.

Successful men have succeeded BECAUSE THEY DID NOT FEAR.

The entire human race has advanced slowly, but surely, because gradually as a race it has got rid of fears innumerable.

All early governments, literature and religions were based upon fear.

Every storm had its vicious demons, every cave its threatening spirits. The wind, the lightning, earthquakes, all were enemies.

The comet was an effort of divine power to punish the human race, already punished enough by its own conscience and its foolish terrors.

Little by little the race as a whole and the nations separately have grown away from these fears.

When plague breaks out men no longer fall on their knees and weep; they clean the streets, wipe out the cesspools, enforce common sense laws.

But in the life of the private individual fear, uncertainty, lack of self-confidence are reproduced millions of times, as in this cartoon.

This little picture is one of the best cartoons ever published in this newspaper—a cartoon needed by nearly all of us.

The words that come most easily to the average man's lips are, "I CAN'T."

He says that because he is looking through the magnifying glass of fear.

Men stick in a rut because they fear to get out.

Fear keeps us from going forward.

Fear keeps us from thinking for ourselves.

Fear makes of death a horror and a torment to millions, when it is less to be feared than a peaceful sleep.

Fear deadens the mind, weakens the heart, squeezes the will—and most of us live with this magnifying glass in our hands.

If you can throw down this fear glass, smash it at once and for all and break loose the threads that tie you, you will find life more nearly worth while.

What is there that a man need really fear?

A short time ago he did not exist. The worst that can happen is that in a short time from now he will again not exist.

A man who is not afraid cannot be hurt.

A man who is afraid dies half a dozen different deaths every day.

If he HAS nothing he worries and fears for the future.

If he has something he fears and worries about what he has.

This is a good picture; lucky the man who learns its lesson.

Once-Overs

Truthfulness should be held sacred in all families.

Even the so-called "white lies" are dangerous. They add nothing to the real family happiness and they are bad in effect on the individual members.

Children are naturally truthful. Often it is the falsehoods told by parents or older sisters or brothers which start the child on the pathway of untruth.

Do not shock the confidence and natural truth of childhood by lies or deceptions which will sow the seed of untruthfulness and faithlessness.

The Sun His Own Timekeeper

By Garrett P. Serviss

"KINDLY tell us all about a sun-dial, how it is built, the principle underlying the idea. Can a set sun-dial give the correct time Summer and Winter alike?—W. N. N.

Horas non numero nisi serenas

("I count only the sunny hours"). Such was the favorite motto inscribed on the old sun-dials, and it reveals at once the true application of the instrument as a measurer of time, and the poetic beauty of the conception on which it is based.

The sun-dial has given to literature one of its finest allegorical phrases, "The shadow on the dial." What metaphor, or rhetorical figure, excels that in contemplative power?

The slow on-creeping of the dark gray, delicate-edged shade of the gnomon, gradually reaching and covering the successive figures of the hours, is a curiously fascinating sight. It is like the march of doom. With a magnifying glass you can see the movement of time's shadowy finger. To the imagination it is an uncanny sight; it is mere motion made visible, for what seems to move is nothing, because a shadow has no substance. There is no invention that man has ever made which puts under his eyes so startling an image of the fleetingness of life as is furnished by the sun-dial. The movement of clock-hands has no such effect, for that is manifestly a purely mechanical phenomenon. Here, perhaps, lies the occult reason why these instruments have never been popular, why they were often attached to churches and cemeteries, why moral maxims appeared in the mottoes that they bore, and why, in these days, whenever you find a man who has taken pains to furnish his garden with a sun-dial, you are sure to discover that he is of a meditative or contemplative disposition.

The sun-dial tells the true sun-time, at the place or on the meridian, where it is situated. Clocks are prevaricators and compromisers. If you want to know the moment when it is truly noon you must go to the sun-dial for that information. Your clock will, ordinarily, give you what is actually somebody else's noon, situated a considerable distance east or west of you, while somebody else's clock will give him your noon, and neither will have the real noon. This is all right for general, practical purposes in this all-grasping age, when we have made the world our oyster, and are concerned with all sides of it at once, but it is not right for certain, innumerous persons, who, for one reason or another, want to know the exact time shown by the real sun at the point on the earth where they happen to live, and not the conventional time shown by what astronomers call the "fictitious sun," which they have created to make easy work for clocks—nobody being able to make a clock that could accurately follow the sun, whose apparent motion through the sky varies in accord with the variations of the earth's real motion around it. Four times in a year, about April 15, June 14, September 1 and December 24, the clock and the sun agree.

There you have the whole philosophy of the sun-dial; it holds up its motionless finger (the gnomon), exactly in the meridian on sunny days, and the sun, traveling from east to west through the sky, throws the shadow of the gnomon onto a graduated dial, and causes that shadow to move eastward across the dial, keeping perfect step with its own progress in the opposite direction. It shows the true local sun-time at all seasons.

The simplest of all forms of sun-dial, and the easiest to make, is a flat plane of metal or stone, placed horizontally, and having the line of the true meridian of the place, or the true north-and-south line, drawn through its centre. Another line, at right angles to this, is the 6 o'clock, or east and west line.

Upon the meridian line is set up the gnomon, a thin triangular piece of metal, one of whose angles is a right angle, while one of its two other angles is equal to the latitude of the place where the instrument is to be used. The gnomon is fixed upright on the dial in such a way that its right-angled corner is at the northern end of the base, or side on which it stands, while the side opposite to the right angle points directly toward the pole of the heavens, whose elevation above the horizon always equals the latitude of the place where the observer stands.

The shadow of the gnomon will move across the plate on the side opposite to that on which the sun shines, and will reach, in succession, a series of hour lines, which must be drawn at such distances apart as to correspond with the relative positions of the principal meridians of the globe.

The edge of the shadow approaches the gnomon before noon and recedes from it after noon. At noon the sun will shine directly down upon the top of the upright triangle, or exactly in its plane, and there will be no shadow, the noon line on the dial corresponding, as we have already seen, with the direction of the gnomon itself. Standing on the south side of the dial, the forenoon hours will be on the left, and the afternoon hours on the right.

The proper positions for the hour lines on the dial can be ascertained by a simple geometrical method, which is too long to be described here, but which will be found, for instance, in the Encyclopedia Americana. It is very important to have the meridian on the dial placed in exact accordance with the real meridian, and the ascertainment of the latter is a problem in elementary practical astronomy. Many complicated and extremely beautiful forms of sun-dial were made in the days before clocks and watches became common. They are precious curios for those who can appreciate them.

Business Woman Makes a Good Wife

Also, by Becoming Independent, She Leaves Brother Who Might Otherwise Have to Support Her Free to Marry and Establish Home of His Own.

By Dorothy Dix

THE assertion is frequently made that women have killed the matrimonial goose that laid the golden egg by going into gainful occupations. Unthinking people claim that when women compete with men in business they lower wages, and thus make it impossible for men to earn enough to marry on, and that if every female could be shooed back out of factory, store and office, into her own home, there would be a perpetual peal of wedding bells upon the air.

This is rank nonsense. To begin with, wages were never so high as they are at present. Part of the altitudinous cost of living is because labor is so dear, and heaven knows what we should have to pay for things if there were no nimble-fingered women wearing silk and cotton and wool, or putting up peas and beans in the canneries. Every man would have to get the salary of a bank president in order to support a family if the woman working outside of the home was eliminated.

If he got more he would have to spend more, so the matter is as broad as it is long even on that basis. The real fallacy of the contention that woman's competition with men in business keeps men from marrying proves itself, however, by the fact that it is only woman's ability to support herself that leaves man free to marry in just the cases where this problem arises.

The poor young man who says that women lower wages and because of that he cannot make enough to marry on does not stop to think that if women were not permitted to engage in pursuits by which they can earn money that he would not only not be able to marry, but would be so burdened by a houseful of dependent female relatives that he would not have a penny to spend upon himself.

The opening up of the commercial world to women has meant the financial emancipation of men just as much as it has of women. Up to the present generation there has been no more pitiful figure than that of the son and brother in an impecunious family. The poor fellow was driven to death, toiling like a slave, to support a house full of women who took his every dollar away from him, and, like the daughters of the horse leech, continually cried "More, more."

He could not think of marrying, for there was barely enough bread to go around. He could not dream of establishing a home of his own, because it was all he could do to stagger along under the burdens already laid upon him. He could not follow any ambition or fortune that lured him, because he was bound like a martyr on the family wheel.

Look at the old bachelors you know, grizzled, lonely, homeless, wifeless, childless, tieless old men, ending their solitary lives in clubs or boarding houses, and you will find out that nine-tenths of them are men who are victims of the social system that kept women in the home and out of the working world. They were forced to sacrifice love and romance to the family butcher-bill.

I know an old Southern gentleman who has often told me that at the end of the Civil War he was the only man of his blood left alive, and that there were thirteen helpless women dependent on him for their livelihood. He was engaged to be married at the time, but, marriage being out of the question, he offered to set his lady love free. She refused and waited for him thirty-five years, until enough of his helpless women folk had died off to enable them to venture upon setting up another home.

It was a tragedy of weary and watchful waiting that could not happen now, because every one of the women who was able-bodied would decline to be dependent, and hustle out and get a job and support herself.

Brother has ceased to be offered up as a sacrificial goat on the family altar. Instead of sitting around and waiting for brother to feed and clothe them and take care of mother and father, the girls roll up their sleeves and go to work, and not only earn their own bread and butter cakes, but contribute far more toward keeping up the home than brother does.

This makes the girls not only self-respecting and independent members of society, instead of forcing them to be parasites, but it leaves the men of the family free to live their own lives, to marry and establish homes of their own which they could not do if they had a lot of dependent women relatives hanging on their necks like old ladies of the sea.

Every self-supporting girl makes it possible for her brother to marry, and she presents some other girl with a potential husband, and so any man stultifies himself when he says that it is woman's competition with men in business that is responsible for men not getting married.

He will have to hunt up a better reason than that. That theory doesn't hold water, and cuts no wedding cake.

November

By Jane McLean

NOVEMBER, where you walk the ground is red,
As though the pressure of your own bare feet
Had called to life some essence long since dead
Of tremulous youth whose passing breath is sweet.

November, where you kneel to watch your face
In some far dusky pool reflected clear,
The wind is sprinkling sunlight through the lace
Of white birch branches standing stripped and sere.

November, where you dream the sky is cold,
With hurrying clouds and silence brooding deep,
And Summer, shivering, grown careworn and old,
Has stooped to kiss you where you lie asleep.
